Angela Davis' freedom, total of $700,000 demanded

Combined News Services

Hijackers seized two jetliners in the western United States Friday and demanded a total of $700,000 ransom. The hijackings, which were unrelated, occurred within hours of each other.

The first plane, a Western Airlines 727 carrying 98 persons, was commandeered as it flew from Los Angeles to Seattle by four men claiming to have a bomb. The plane landed in San Francisco, where the airline said it had met the hijackers' demands for $500,000 in cash and a different, longer-range plane.

After the hijackers and some 30 hostages boarded the new plane, it flew out of San Francisco.

When the Western Airlines jet was taken out of Seattle, authorities said, the hijackers demanded the freedom of black militant Angela Davis.

Miss Davis was visibly shaken when told of the report that she was part of the hijackers' demands. She had no comment on the hijack but her supporters issued a statement denying any connection.

"We don't know anything about this. We don't agree with this method of obtaining Angela Y. Davis' freedom," said the statement by the National United Committee to Free Angela Davis.

Miss Davis' spokesman, Stephanie Allen, said the defense team was told about the hijacker's demands by her trial judge, who telephoned them with the news.

"She's OK. The judge has asked that she stay where she is," said Miss Allen. "She's not going to the airport."

Meantime, in Reno, Nev., a hooded hijacker commandeered a United Airlines 727 Friday as it disembarked passengers and demanded $200,000 in unmarked one dollar bills.

James Parker, Reno police chief, said the jetliner had burned out an engine and was taxied about 150 yards from the terminal where the hijacker waited, a .357 magnum pistol at the ready, for the money to be brought to him.

Mrs. Marie Chalk of Carson City, Nev., and her husband, Paul, who is crippled and in a wheelchair were the last persons off the aircraft.

She said she was walking down the gangway when the hijacker flung a cloth over his head and ran forward, waving his pistol.

WASHINGTON, Friday (AP) — Frederick W. Hahneman, named by the FBI in a federal warrant as the man who hijacked an Eastern Air Lines jet to the Honduras May 6, surrendered to authorities at the U.S. Embassy in the Honduras capital early today, an FBI spokesman said.

"He almost knocked me down," she said. "He didn't seem to bother with me and we kept going."

A United spokesman said all 24 passengers aboard had been discharged at the Reno airport. Officials said a first officer and three stewardesses were on the plane when the hijacker came aboard.

At one point airport personnel said they could "see the subject sitting at the window over the wing," with his head covered and holding a pistol on one of the United employees.

Chisholm wins equal time

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal appeals court Friday ordered equal-time appearances on two television networks for Rep. Shirley Chisholm in her bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mrs. Chisholm, the first black woman to make a presidential bid, had asked for the time to match broadcasts by the two leading Democratic presidential contenders, Sens. George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey.

Sens. George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey relate confidence as California primary nears. Page A-8.

The U.S. Circuit Court here ordered that appearances by Mrs. Chisholm be provided before June 5, the day before the June 6 California presidential primary. In San Francisco, attorney Melvin Belli said he and Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, also a Democratic presidential contender are "furious" that the circuit court in San Francisco denied equal time to Yorty.

Belli said he would immediately petition the U.S. Supreme Court on Yorty's behalf in an attempt to reverse the court decision.

The three-judge court ordered the Federal Communications Commission to direct the Columbia Broadcasting System to provide a half hour of prime time. It also directed the FCC to order the American Broadcasting Co. to include Mrs. Chisholm in its June 4 program of Issues and Answers or provide her with a half hour of prime time. Two other Democratic rivals have already been scheduled for the June 4 program.

Mrs. Chisholm was giving a campaign speech in Linden, N.J., when she learned of the court ruling. She drew loud applause when she announced the decision.

Asked after the speech about her reaction to the ruling, Mrs. Chisholm said she thought it was meaningful not only to her but to many other Americans.

"This kind of victory is so meaningful to me because of what I'm attempting to give the American people in terms of my candidacy and because I do not have the tremendous sums of money that people now seem to need to run for elective office in this country," she said.

Angela jury kept unaware of skyjack

SAN JOSE (AP) — Angela Davis' jury deliberated her fate for five hours before retiring for the night Friday, unaware of a report that four skyjackers were seeking Miss Davis' freedom.

Visibly shaken by reports of the skyjacking, the 23-year-old defendant was rushed into the judge's chambers by FBI agents late in the afternoon. She had been having a leisurely lunch nearby after the jury's retirement to consider a verdict in her murder-kidnap-conspiracy trial. There were conflicting reports on whether the hijackers had mentioned Miss Davis.

Miss Davis' mother, father, sister and brothers hurried to her side. When authorities got the news to her, sources said, her first concern was that they not place her in custody again. Miss Davis spent 16 months in jail awaiting trial and is currently free on bail.

SHE MET with her attorneys and the judge and remained in the courthouse until 7:30 p.m.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said the FBI has asked Miss Davis to stand by in case the skyjackers demanded to talk to her by telephone.

"Miss Davis has left for the night," a sheriff's spokesman said later. "The matter is closed."

Jurors, who are being sequestered at a downtown San Jose motel, were shielded from the news by sheriff's deputies guarding them.

"This will not affect the jury. They're oblivious to it at this time," he said.

THE Western Airlines 727 with 98 persons aboard was commandeered in the air between Los Angeles and Seattle. It landed in Seattle, was refueled and took off for San Francisco, 50 miles north of San Jose.

Tamm was asked whether Miss Davis, who was free on bail, might be asked to talk by telephone with the hijackers. "We're looking into all sorts of possibilities," he responded. (Turn to Back Page, Col. 3)

Killer's dad ordered to pay damages

United Press International

The father of a 16-year-old boy who shot and killed a policeman was ordered by a judge Friday to pay $65,472 in death benefits to the dead officer's widow and child.

Superior Court Judge Lester E. Olson, who heard the case without a jury, said he ignored the social implications and decided the case solely on the legal issues. The defendant was Walter L. Miller, a carpenter in suburban Van Nuys, whose son, William, was killed by other officers after he fatally shot rookie policeman Roger R. Warren in May, 1967.

The city sued Miller for the $65,472 it owed to the officer's widow, Nancy, 28, who has since remarried, and to his 7-year-old daughter, Kelley Esther.

The Miller boy had been in trouble with the law since he was 10 and the city argued the parents were negligent in leaving a rifle around the house knowing that the boy had "dangerous propensities and tendencies."

Miller testified that the .30-06 rifle used in the killing was not given to William but to his older brother who was supposed to keep it locked up.

Olson declared: "The evidence clearly establishes the defendants failed to exercise reasonable care over their minor child. They put into his hands, so to speak, the weapon that made it possible for him to kill a police officer."

But food prices went up

County jobless rate fell in May

The adjusted unemployment rate for Los Angeles County and California as a whole showed a drop for the month of May, state officials reported Friday.

The county's rate of joblessness declined from 6.1 per cent in April to 5.9 per cent in May, said Sigurd I. Hansen, director of the state Department of Human Resources Development.

California's adjusted unemployment rate skidded to 5.9 per cent for May from an April reading of 6.3 per cent, Hansen said. He noted that the 8.18 million Californians on the job in May established a record for the month.

All major industries in the state recorded employment gains. Leaders were agriculture, service, trade, manufacturing and construction.

The unemployment rate reached a peak of 7.4 per cent in April and May of 1971 and has generally dropped since then, Hansen said. He attributed the comeback to an overall improvement in the economy.

While the employment picture brightened the family food budget got some bad news.

After a two-month decline, wholesale food prices surged upward in May. The jump of 6 per cent for the month was due primarily to a 2.6 per cent increase in prices of fresh food from the farm such as meat, fruits and vegetables.

Food market prices this weekend already are showing how quickly the wholesale price rise hits the consumers' pocketbooks.

Food price hikes, coupled with a stubborn national unemployment rate of 5.9 per cent, are being cited by Democratic Party spokesmen as evidence of the failure of President Nixon's economic policies.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said that in spite of Nixon's achievements at the summit, his "economic policies here at home have been a disaster, raising serious questions about his ability to lead the nation."

AFL-CIO President George Meany, who quit the federal Pay Board early this year with a blast at the administration, said "America's economic mess created by the ill-advised Nixon policies continued unabated."

The sharp jump in prices for fresh food from the farm followed declines of 0.8 per cent in March and 0.5 per cent in April. The 2.6 per cent rise in May was the biggest since a 3.2

per cent increase in December.

The increases were less precipitous after government statisticians adjusted them to include seasonal variations. The overall wholesale price rise was 0.5 per cent instead of 0.6 per cent after these adjustments.

Record high cattle prices and increased hog prices were blamed by the administration for much of the May upswing. Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Economic Council, predicted they

U.S. birth rate drops to historic low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's birth rate fell to the lowest in history in the first three months of 1972, continuing a dramatic decline that began last year, the government said Friday.

The drop pushed the nation close to a rate of birth that would be needed to bring about eventual zero growth of the population.

According to the National Center for Health Statistics, the birth rate was 15.8 children per 1,000 population in the first quarter of the year compared with 17.6 per 1,000 for a similar period last year and 17.3 for all of 1971.

This meant that the estimated average number of children of women in the child-bearing ages declined to 2.145 in the first quarter, compared with 2.284 for all of 1971, the Census Bureau said.

Population experts figure that if women have an average family size of 2.11 children during their lifetimes, the nation will reach zero population growth within 40 to 50 years, excluding immigration.

In 1970, the average family size was about 2.4 children, well above the rate needed to reach eventual zero growth. Census experts expected the birth rate to go up, but the decline, and especially the extent of it, has been considered surprising.

Privately, census specialists point to a number of reasons, saying that increased liberalization of abortion laws has had some effect on the drop in birth rate. But even some states with restrictive abortion laws also experienced a decline in the birth rate.

Specialists say that economic factors also are probably one of the prime causes. They point to the 1969-1970 slowdown at a time when many well-to-do people were put out of work because of the recession.

This general economic uncertainty probably is now being reflected in the birth rate decline, one official said. He added that there is a time lag of at least nine months and probably a year or longer in the time an economic situation has an impact on the birth rate.

Previously the lowest birth rates had been during the depression.

Census officials also say that the "women's lib attitude" may be causing the dramatic decline in the rate.

This may be showing itself in postponing of marriages and having children and in the increased participation of women in the labor force, one official said.

Population experts have no figures to back up these reasons for the birth rate drop, but they say that the change in life-styles, although hard to measure, undoubtedly is making its impact.

The number of births in the nation had been expected to go up markedly in the immediate future because there are a large number of women of prime child-bearing age. For that reason, the sharp decline at first proved puzzling to census experts.

L.A. market heist

biggest since 1965

An intensive search was under way Friday for a gunman who tied and gagged two supermarket employees and then stole $94,500 in the largest single robbery in Los Angeles in at least seven years.

The robbery occurred Thursday but details were not disclosed until an accounting of the missing money was made Friday.

Lt. Harold Cyriacks of the police department's robbery division said a tall man wearing a white knit cap and brandishing a small-caliber handgun entered the Smith's Food Giant store and ordered the manager, George Williams, 32, to take him into a locked cashier's cage.

The gunman then forced Williams and the cashier, Virginia Ivester, 40, to get on the floor. When she sank only to her knees, the bandit ordered, "All the way down."

The robber tied and gagged the two with rags he carried into the store, then took two money bags which had just been delivered by Armored Transport Inc. The thief then fled, apparently on foot.

The cashier was able to free herself and released Williams.

Cyriacks said the largest previous robbery in recent Los Angeles history was in January 1965.

'I'll take care of you,' Brown tells judge

Combined News Services

Black militant H. Rap Brown, smiling coolly and telling the white-haired judge, "I'll take care of you," was sentenced Friday to five years in prison and fined $2,000 for carrying a rifle on an airplane from New York to Louisiana four years ago. U.S. District Judge Lansing Mitchell ordered the lanky, bearded Brown returned to state jurisdiction in New York for prosecution on an attempted homicide charge.

But as the judge read Brown's sentence defense attorney William Kunstler sent aides scurrying two floors above with a plea to the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge John Wisdom, who was in Virginia, issued a temporary restraining order keeping Brown in New Orleans until a three-judge panel could rule on a request by Kunstler to vacate the sentence and return Brown to Maryland instead of New York.

But federal marshals, oblivious to Wisdom's order, took Brown to an airplane and whisked him out of town. Wisdom then conferred in private with two other members of the appeals court and they turned down Kunstler's motion. Wisdom, in Richmond, Va., conferred with Paul Roney in St. Petersburg, Fla., and John Godbold in Montgomery, Ala.

With this ruling, Wisdom's restraining order expired.

Rooney Jr. held

Mickey Rooney Jr., 27-year-old son of the actor, was arrested Friday as a purported member of what federal agents said was an international cocaine ring. Eleven other persons, including Catherine Philbin, 33, ex-wife of Regis Philbin, former announcer on Joey Bishop's show, were arrested in the roundup. Rooney Jr. was booked for investigation of possession with intent to distribute cocaine and distribution of cocaine. Late Friday young Rooney was released on his own recognizance pending a preliminary hearing June 21.

Henry Mays," Tito wrote, declaring the American officer showed great courage while serving in Yugoslavia during World War II. After the Germans had been repelled, Mays was awarded the Yugoslav Partisan Star. He died in an automobile accident a year ago. The letter from Tito "shouldn't surprise me," said Mrs. Mays, mother of seven children. "He was a wonderful boy, my son."

Tank car blast injures 16

DALLAS — A railroad tank car carrying 780 tons of liquefied petroleum gas derailed and exploded early Friday shattering the windows of a dozen nearby homes and causing injuries, mostly cuts, to 16 persons. "Man, it was like hell struck," said John Carver, who was asleep with his wife in their home near the Missouri Pacific switching yards in southeast Dallas when the blast occurred. Police evacuated 500 residents from a four-block area around the derailment. Most of the injuries were cuts suffered when the blast shock wave collapsed windows. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

BELFAST — A mine exploded Friday under the feet of four British soldiers, killing two and injuring the others. At least three other bombs exploded across Northern Ireland in a mockery of declarations of truce and pleas for peace. The two soldiers died on a road near Roslea, close to the Irish Republic border. Their deaths raised to 73 the number of British soldiers killed and to 359 the total number of persons slain in less than three years of political and sectarian violence. A booby-trapped truck blew up in Londonderry, badly injuring two policemen and a civilian. Another blast bent a power pylon outside Londonderry. ## Daley warns of new threat

SPRINGFIELD — Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, in an emotional speech to the Illinois Democratic National Convention delegates, Friday charged that the same forces of "conspiracy" that disrupted the 1968 convention are at work this year. Speaking of hearings on a challenge to seating 59 uncommitted convention delegates from Chicago, Daley said, "we're Democrats and no one is going to put us out" of the Miami convention. Daley, his voice raised and face flushed, seemingly denied at one point that there were injuries during the 1968 convention. "We have nothing to apologize for in the 1968 convention in Chicago, to anybody," he said. "There was no one on the ground. There was no one injured. There were faked doctors. Then TV tapped the phones of the convention. What a fine example that is."

The Duchess, 75, still appearing under strain from the Duke's death Sunday, was welcomed to the palace on the eve of the 35th anniversary of her wedding to the man who gave up the throne in 1936 because the British government refused to allow him to make the American divorcee his commoner queen.

The duchess, brought from the Windsor's exile home in Paris Friday by one of Queen Elizabeth's special aircraft, was sped through the palace gates in a royal limousine. After a rest she lunched in the queen's private apartments with the in-laws who shunned her for more than three decades.

"But I suspect with some evidence that the Provisionals will follow the officials in declaring a ceasefire in a relatively short time," he said.

Compton teachers 'sick-in'

By JAMES LEAVY
Staff Writer

Most of the teachers who remained off their jobs Friday in a protest over student violence on Compton's Centennial High School campus have indicated they will return to work Monday, according to School Superintendent Alonzo Crim.

More than half the troubled school's 95 teachers staged a sick-in Friday forcing district officials to man classrooms with administrators and substitute teachers.

In the confusion caused by the sick-in, hundreds of students cut classes, some milling around on the school grounds and others cruising the neighborhood in autos.

Crim said there was some vandalism on campus Friday but no reports of other violence. He said there were no police at the school during the day.

The 46 teachers who called in sick were not part of an organized group, Crim said. Teachers made the decision to remain away from classes following a general faculty meeting Thursday afternoon.

Crim said he has not discussed the reason for the sick-in with any of the teachers. He said "a good many are returning Monday. They have called and said they would be back."

The school official said he would meet with members of the group which failed to report Friday to "gain a full understanding of what they feel are the problems on campus."

In the past teachers have complained of student violence at the high school which has a predominantly black enrollment.

THEY HAVE charged that the violent activity is aimed at them. One woman teacher said students recently threw a desk at her. Others report fights among students, swearing at teachers and exploding firecrackers in the halls.

In April an investigating team from the California Teachers Association said Compton's schools were on the verge of an administrative breakdown as a result of violence, vandalism and administrative incompetence.

Noell Marble, a negotiation consultant for the association, said, "I have visited many bad school districts in California, but I have never seen any worse than Compton."

Compton Unified School District officials and civic leaders termed the report a smear tactic aimed at forcing a work agreement between teachers and the district.

County to set up 'hot-line' to aid vandalism crackdown

By NOEL SWANN
From Our L.A. Bureau

District Attorney Joseph P. Busch said Friday he plans to set up a county-wide "hot line" for reporting acts of vandalism.

He said the concept of citizens calling in reports on vandalism incidents was one of several crack-down proposals made by a task force he created last year.

While the countywide "hot line" is scheduled to begin operation later this year, Busch said he hopes to set up a community hot line in Compton within a month.

He said the Compton reporting effort is part of a joint pilot program being initiated between his office and the Compton Unified School District.

Another facet of the Compton project will be formation of a volunteer parent patrol to aid in supervising school playgrounds and recreation areas during lunch breaks and the after school hours.

Busch said a key factor in the hot line program is that callers reporting incidents will be guaranteed anonymity.

"In the past, the main obstacle to citizen involvement in a crackdown on vandalism has been the fear of retaliation," Busch said.

"CITIZENS FELT — logically enough — that if they reported a group of boys smashing windows, their windows might be the next to be smashed," he said.

Tape deck taken

A tape deck and two tapes valued at a total of $84.90 were stolen from the car of John V. Pate, 412 E. 20th St., while it was parked in front of his residence, Long Beach police reported Friday.

Douglas gets 2.3-million FAA pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration awarded McDonnell Douglas Corp., Long Beach, Calif., a $2,321,400 contract Friday to develop new methods and equipment to increase the capacity of airports.

In announcing the contract award, Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe said:

"Unless we develop new approaches to airport planning and new methods for improving airport utilization, we will find ourselves hard-pressed to accommodate the projected demand for air transportation services in the late 1970s and beyond."

Wheel and deal

In January a driver from the Mobile Vacuum Service, 1432 Cherry Ave., took my vacuum cleaner in for repairs and returned it the following day. When I used it I found it very difficult to push and discovered the wheels had been removed. Since the end of March, my husband has called the company many times and asked to have the wheels returned. He was told someone would be out to take care of it but no one came. Could you help us get the wheels back? Mrs. R.E.H., Long Beach.

You should have some replacement wheels soon. H. C. Holstein, owner of Mobile Vacuum Service told ACTION LINE he would find some wheels to fit your cleaner and put them on for you. "I'm going to do this just to get her off my back, not because I owe it to her," he said. "I don't know what the driver didn't take them off because there was no reason to," he said.

GRAFFITI

happened to the wheels. The driver didn't take them off because there was no reason to," he said.

Missing

We shipped four cartons of clothes, household utensils and linens from Columbia, Mo. to Gardena last August by Railway Express. Three cartons arrived but the fourth one still is missing. Can you find out what happened to the fourth carton? K.M., Carson.

REA Express is sending you claim forms to fill out and return to them. "Most likely the carton is lost since she received the other three," Annie Markley of REA Express said. If it wasn't claimed within 30 days it would have been returned to the shipper and you would have heard from them by now, she said.

Uncontrolled

Can a car dealer legally sell a car with a smog control device which doesn't work? F.E.P., Long Beach.

No. But experts can't imagine how you could possibly buy a car with an inoperative smog control device. Under state law, a car can be registered only after the smog control device has been inspected by a licensed inspection station and certified to be in working order, said Paul Newmark of the State Air Resources Board. It is the dealer's responsibility to get this certification before he sells the car, he said. If you feel your dealer has acted improperly, you can file a complaint with the State Bureau of Automotive Repairs, Division of Consumer Affairs, 2815 O St., Sacramento, Calif. 95816, and they will investigate.

Farm work

Last summer and fall I worked for Richard Brogett on his Lake Bronson, Mich. farm. When I left Oct. 1, Brogett promised to pay me the $157.33 he owed me in $50 monthly payments. I haven't received any money yet and have called him twice and written twice. He always tells me I will not be paid until he sells his crops. I need the money. Could you please help? D.B., Long Beach.

You should receive your pay any day now. Richard Brogett told ACTION LINE he had just sold the last of his potato crop and would be able to pay you now. He said he told you when you began work that he couldn't pay you until the crop was sold.

Biker

I'm a young grandmother and I would like to join a motorcycle club for middle-aged people. Can ACTION LINE help? Z.N., Long Beach.

There are several motorcycle organizations composed mostly of middle-aged members. You can get a list of the clubs in your area by writing to the Southern California Motorcycle Association, P.O. Box 54233, Terminal Annex, Los Angeles, Calif. 90054, or the Road Riders Committee, c/o Harley Davidson of Pomona, 1241 W. Holt Ave., Pomona, Calif. 91766. Both associations regularly sponsor club runs and the best way to meet the members of the various motorcycle groups is to attend one of these events. You can pick up an events calendar at Harley Davidson of Long Beach, 3654 Long Beach Blvd.

Burglar gets radios, pennant and pillow

Two radios valued at $67, a pennant and a pillow were taken from the room of Barbara Maria Gomez, 5859 State College Drive, by a burglar who entered through an unlocked door, Long Beach police reported Friday.

U.S. officials accused of involvement Thieu, Ky named in drug probe

By LAWRENCE KNUTSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Vietnam's president, former vice president and prime minister run organizations that split control of their nation's opium and heroin trade, a narcotics researcher charged in Senate testimony Friday.

The witness, Alfred W. McCoy, said the South Vietnam narcotics ring has links with Corsican gangsters, with an organized crime family in Florida, and with scores of high-ranking military officers in South Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia and Thailand.

McCoy, a Ph.D. candidate in Southeast Asian history at Yale University, testified before the Senate Appropriations Committee's subcommittee on foreign operations. He said he had spent 18 months interviewing officials in the United States, Indochina and Europe.

McCoy accused American officials of condoning an even cooperating with corrupt elements in Southeast Asia's illegal drug trade out of political and military considerations.

And he said high-ranking military and civilian officials in South Vietnam and other Indochinese countries have been involved directly in distributing heroin to GIs fighting in Vietnam and to addicts in the United States itself.

At the State Department, a spokesman said: "We are aware of these charges, but we have been unable to find any evidence to substantiate them, much less proof."

Press officer John King said the department has not read the transcript yet but he declared that the United States has been cooperating with Southeast Asian governments in an attempt "to stem the flow of narcotics."

These were McCoy's major charges:

—Heroin and opium traffic in South Vietnam is divided among the political organizations of President Nguyen Van Thieu, former

ALFRED W. MCCOY
Narcotics Researcher

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Prime Minister Tran Van Khiem.

—Ky's sister, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Ly, travels about once a month to Vientiane, the capital of Laos, to arrange for shipment of packaged heroin to Pakse or Phnom Penh in Cambodia, he said.

—The heroin is then picked up by transport aircraft belonging to the South Vietnamese Fifth Air Division and flown to Saigon.

—Until recently Mrs. Ky's prime supplier was an "overseas Chinese racketeer" named Huu Tim Heng, who used his position as the silent partner in the Vientiane Pepsi Cola bottling plant as a cover to import a chemical necessary for the manufacture of heroin, McCoy testified.

—Heng bought raw opium and morphine from Gen. Ouane Rattikone, former chief of staff of the Royal Laotian Army.

—Rattikone admitted, McCoy said, that he controlled opium traffic in northwestern Laos since 1962 and controlled that country's largest heroin laboratory producing a high-grade drug for the GI market in South Vietnam.

—Most of the opium traffic in northeastern Laos is controlled by Gen. Vang Pao, commander of the CIA mercenary army, he said.

—The government of Thailand allows Burmese rebels, Nationalist Chinese irregulars and mercenary armies to move "enormous mule caravans loaded with hundreds of tons of Burmese opium across Thailand's northern border."

—Some of Thieu's closest supporters inside the Vietnamese Army control the distribution and sale of heroin to American GIs fighting in Indochina.

—That Santo Trafficante Jr., whom he called the heir to a Florida-based international crime syndicate, traveled to Saigon in 1968, contacted prominent members of Saigon's Corsican criminal syndicates and arranged increased imports of Alsan heroin to the United States.

McCoy said he has confirmed independently an accusation by the National Broadcasting Co. that Gen. Dang Van Quang, a military adviser to Thieu, is the "biggest pusher" of narcotics in South Vietnam.

He said American officials have identified Gen. Ngo Dzu as one of the major drug traffickers in central Vietnam. He said the general was commander of II Corps "until several weeks ago when he was removed for military incompetence."

McCoy accused American embassies in Indochina of trying repeatedly to cover up the involvement of local officials in the drug traffic.

McCoy said also that G. McMurtrie Godley, U.S. ambassador to Laos, "did his best to prevent the assignment of U.S. Bureau of Narcotics officials to Laos" because of his interest in continued political and military cooperation with the Laotian government.

"In northern Laos," McCoy said, "Air America aircraft and helicopters chartered by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency have been transporting opium harvested by the agency's tribal mercenaries on a regular basis."

HE WAS asked by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., the subcommittee chairman to produce documentation for several of his allegations and he promised to do so.

Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., pressed McCoy on his lack of professional qualifications, implied his material was one-dimensional and slanted and likened some of his charges to "McCarthyism."

"I resent your implication, Senator," McCoy replied, insisting his allegations are based on fact.

McCoy produced photostats of a confidential document on the stationery of the U.S. Military Assistance Command in Vietnam, linking Gen. Dzu and his father to the heroin traffic.

McCoy told newsmen he was financed in his investigations by the Fund for Investigative Journalism, the publishing firm of Harper and Row and from his own savings.

He said he spent four months in Southeast Asia and two months in Europe preparing to write his book.

Arms briefing sells solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration and congressional leaders, after a White House briefing Friday, predicted quick consideration and ultimate ratification of the arms limitation agreements with the Soviet Union.

President Nixon personally briefed a bipartisan group of 30 House and Senate leaders on the treaty limiting defensive antiballistic missiles — ABMs — and an executive agreement curbing offensive missiles.

Nixon spoke for 45 minutes and was followed by Henry Kissinger, presidential foreign affairs adviser, and then a question-and-answer session with the congressmen.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate majority leader, called it an "excellent" briefing and said it did more than Nixon's speech to a joint session of Congress Thursday night to convince him of the merit of the agreements.

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, said he expected the agreements to be sent to Congress in about a week and said the mood of the Friday-morning meeting indicated the lawmakers wanted to begin consideration quickly.

Mansfield and Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania both said they expected to receive the proposals formally next week with passage expected this summer or by early fall at the latest.

The ABM treaty requires ratification by two-thirds of the Senate. The accompanying executive agreement on offensive missiles can pass with a majority of the Senate and House.

"The President indicated that it is now Congress' responsibility to review carefully and ratify the treaties," Ziegler said. "The United States is then prepared to move into the second phase of the arms limitation discussions with the Soviet Union."

Scott said plans are being made for resumption of the SALT talks "this summer," pending approval of the agreements already reached, to explore possible agreement on actual reduction of armaments as opposed to mere limitation as provided by the current accords.

N. Viet 'fighting demons' doit on Vitamin B, sugar

SAIGON (AP) — The generals now know what's in those mysterious little pills that seem to make North Vietnamese soldiers ignore fire and fight like tigers. Vitamin B and sugar.

Front-line commanders in past weeks have reported some attacking troops appear drugged, with glazed eyes and boundless endurance. Then they found strange-looking tablets left on the battlefield.

"THEY LOOK just like candy drops," said a U.S.

intelligence officer. "And I saw an analysis that discovered that's just what they were..."

He said the North Vietnamese also took vitamin pills, rich in B complex.

Other officers, and separate analyses, back up his information. Communist troops are taking glucose pills for quick energy, and they are going into battle sucking large vitamin pills.

"Well, it's pretty easy to understand," said one U.S. Marine on the northern front. "It's awfully easy to work an 18-year-old up to a good fight."

"They're probably telling them it's some kind of hefty pep pill and squeezing one last psychological effort out of them."

Sugar's quick-energy properties are widely accepted, officers said, noting that American C-rations contain chocolate bars for that purpose.

The various vitamin B pills offer a number of medical benefits, including aid to digestion which fights diarrhea. They supplement the basic rice diet and prevent deficiency diseases.

Vitamin B1 is essential for converting glucose into energy, doctors say.

THE NORTH Vietnamese army's pharmacopoeia includes an array of folk medicines that would stock a Chinatown drugstore: balms, herbs, powders and elixirs. Officers say there is no evidence of any regular issue of amphetamines, barbiturates or anything else of that type.

"These guys fight like they're drugged," said a senior U.S. adviser who has seen them in action in the two-month offensive. "But it's indoctrination, they don't need pills."

U.S. orders price cut in McDonald's food

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission Friday ordered McDonald's Corp. to cut prices of its "Quarter-Pounder" hamburgers and cheeseburgers.

The commission said the popular fast-food chain had increased prices on these items without obtaining required advance permission.

Prices on "Quarter-Pounder" hamburgers and cheeseburgers, which aren't sold at all of the chain's outlets, must be cut back to base price levels by June 15, and by June 30 must be reduced below that level by enough to give back consumers the amount of money derived by the price increase found to be improper.

THE commission didn't specify what the base price is, or how much money must be refunded.

However, McDonald's, which maintains headquarters in Oak Brook, Ill., put the amount to be refunded at about $55,000.

The firm, with yearly sales of $193 million, said it will reduce the prices as requested, but added that it will seek exception or relief from the ruling.

The firm's president, Fred L. Turner, said the commission ruling "was a result of a request by McDonald's Corp. for clarification of regulations the test market pricing of McDonald's new 'Quarter-Pounder' hamburgers and cheeseburgers in a limited number of markets."

The commission said the price-cut order applies to the firm's company-owned stores. McDonald's said it has 31 such outlets.

The commission also ordered price cuts for five retail chains it said had exceeded their profit-margin ceilings. All five were ordered to cut prices enough to get profit margins in line this year and to return three times the amount of last year's overcharges to customers.

The five are Colonial Stores Inc., a food chain in Atlanta, Ga.; Hannaford Bros. Co., a food chain in Portland, Maine; Sav-On Drugs Inc., of Marina del Rey, Calif.; Vornado, Inc., a supermarket chain in Garfield, N.J. and Caldor, Inc., a discount department store operation of Norwalk, Conn.

IN ANOTHER action, the Price Commission ordered a price cut by Pott Industries, Inc., St. Louis, Mo., which it also accused of exceeding profit-margin ceilings. Pott, which does shipyard repair work, also was ordered to make triple price reductions.

All told, the seven roll-back orders made up the largest collections of such actions the commission has yet taken in a single day.

So far, by the commission's count, it has ordered 54 price reductions.

U.S. to let Ford distribute '73s despite smog-test error

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency steered Ford Motor Co. around a legal roadblock Friday that threatened to halt Ford's new-car production.

EPA chief William D. Ruckelshaus said he would let Ford distribute, but not sell, its 1973 cars if a short antipollution test indicates they will pass the 3½-month repeat of a test Ford did incorrectly.

The cars would be certified for sale only after they pass the full test.

At the same time, Ruckelshaus said he is checking whether any other automakers have the same problem Ford discovered and reported last month.

Before new cars may be sold they must win federal certification, based on 50,000 miles of regulated testing, that they meet current antipollution standards.

In mid-May, Ford told EPA the tests it had submitted for its 1973 cars were done incorrectly.

Ruckelshaus said he could not certify the cars and that meant, under the 1970 Clean Air Act, they could not be shipped anywhere in interstate commerce.

Ford said if the cars piled up at the factory, it would have to shut down production, throwing as many as 450,000 people out of work at Ford and related industries.

To solve this problem, Ruckelshaus announced Friday, he will give Ford cars conditional certifications if 4,000-mile tests taking 10 to 14 days indicate the cars will pass the 50,000-mile repeat tests.

The conditional certifications, he said, would allow Ford to ship its cars to dealers, but Ford would retain ownership and the cars could not be sold legally until final certification is granted.

If the cars failed to measure up to standards in the full-scale test, Ruckelshaus said, Ford would have to modify the vehicles to make them comply or take them back from the dealers.

"The risk, therefore, is not the public's but rather Ford's," he said.

In Detroit, Ford Vice President H. L. Misch said, "We have no immediate way of evaluating the effects of the Environmental Protection Agency's action and will not have until we have had a chance to discuss the matter in detail with EPA personnel."

Ruckelshaus said Ford's cars, in their original test, "received unscheduled, unauthorized, and unreported maintenance to a degree as to make this data unacceptable" for certification.

In an interview Thursday, Ruckelshaus aide George V. Allen said EPA was investigating the possibility of recommending criminal prosecution against Ford or its employees in connection with the use of incorrect test procedures.

Boston hit with school bias charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Boston public school system was cited Friday for a federal civil rights hearing on charges that it discriminates against black and Spanish-speaking children.

The district of 96,582 pupils, more than 35 per cent nonwhite, ranks 29th in size nationwide and is the largest outside the South to be carried this far in enforcement proceedings.

AT STAKE is about $10 million in federal funds which a hearing examiner could recommend be cut off.

The district, which has 20 days to respond formally to the allegations, declined immediate comment.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said it is deferring for 90 days Boston's applications for funding new programs and activities.

The 1964 Civil Rights Act prohibits federal aid to any institution practicing discrimination.

J. Stanley Pottinger, director of HEW's Office for Civil Rights, said he cited Boston after an 18-month investigation and six months of fruitless attempts to secure voluntary compliance.

Pottinger said Boston could desegregate without additional busing and that the citation was therefore consistent with President Nixon's proposed anti-busing legislation.

Talk on outlook for economy slated

Alfred G. Zangri, representative of Merrill, Lynch Co., Long Beach, will speak June 14 at a luncheon meeting of the Hawaiian Gardens Chamber of Commerce at Lakewood Mobile Estates.

B52s fly low to slam Reds periling Hue

SAIGON (UPI) — American B52 bombers flew above ground-hugging rain clouds near Hue Friday to pound Communist troops believed massing for an attack on the former imperial capital.

Heavy clouds that grounded the low-flying fighter-bombers failed to stop the B52s. U.S. military spokesmen said the bombers flew 11 missions west and southwest of Hue, including three strikes against targets inside the A Shau Valley, a traditional Communist sanctuary.

The U.S. Command said earlier fighter-bombers swept into North Vietnam as close as 30 miles to China where the weather was clearer and had one of their most successful bombing days of the current Communist offensive. A spokesman said the planes knocked out two important railroad bridges and badly damaged a major power plant.

AIR RESCUE teams also dipped down into North Vietnam to rescue Air Force Capt. Roger C. Locher, 25, of Sabetha, Kan., who parachuted into Communist territory 23 days ago.

A military source said Locher, who bailed out 70 miles northwest of Hanoi on May 10, was in "surprisingly good shape."

In the ground war, government spokesmen said South Vietnamese troops killed 550 Communists on four fronts while losing 31 men. The Communist dead included 286 in Quang Ngai province 332 miles north-east of Saigon and 137 at Kontum in the Central Highlands. Heaviest government losses were 12 killed near Kontum.

A U.S. spokesman said the B52s also hit near Kontum and An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon.

More than 220 warplanes plus a light cruiser and destroyers of the U.S. 7th Fleet ranged the length of North Vietnam Thursday, the command reported. Laser-guided bombs hit the Bac Giang power plant, which the command said "is a component of Hanoi's electrical transmission network."

Unidentified woman dies of knife wounds

An unidentified woman who ran screaming and bleeding from her attackers at Temple Avenue and Spaulding Street Friday night died a short time later of multiple knife wounds, Long Beach police said.

Sgt. Douglas E. Bostard of the homicide division said residents in the area went outside when they heard a woman yelling.

They told police they saw three cars, each containing several male Negroes parked near the intersection. The victim ran from one of the cars

THE PLANT, 25 miles northeast of the capital, and its support buildings were damaged, and pilots reported "heavy smoke in the target area."

Phantom bombers dropped the two center spans of the Cap Nung railroad bridge into the Song Hoa River, also using the laser-beam "smart bombs." The bridge is 30 miles from China on North Vietnam's northeast rail line.

A railroad bridge was destroyed near Vinh, the second largest North Vietnamese port, 184 miles south of Hanoi. The bombers also hit the Vinh highway ferry. Both the bridge and ferry are within two miles of Vinh.

Air Force, Navy, and Marine pilots took part in what the command said was one of the most successful days over the North since President Nixon ordered "Operation Linebacker," on April 6.

TWO OTHER major railroad bridges were hit. The Duong Lai rail and highway bridge, 38 miles southwest of Hanoi, suffered a damaged abutment and cratered approaches. The bridge near Thanh Hoa, 83 miles south of Hanoi, were damaged.

The command said Friday the bridges and ferry all were on major roads leading from key supply areas to the southern battlefield.

In addition, the bombers hit two 450-foot supply boats and two large barges between Nui Son Island, 110 miles south of Hanoi, and the mainland.

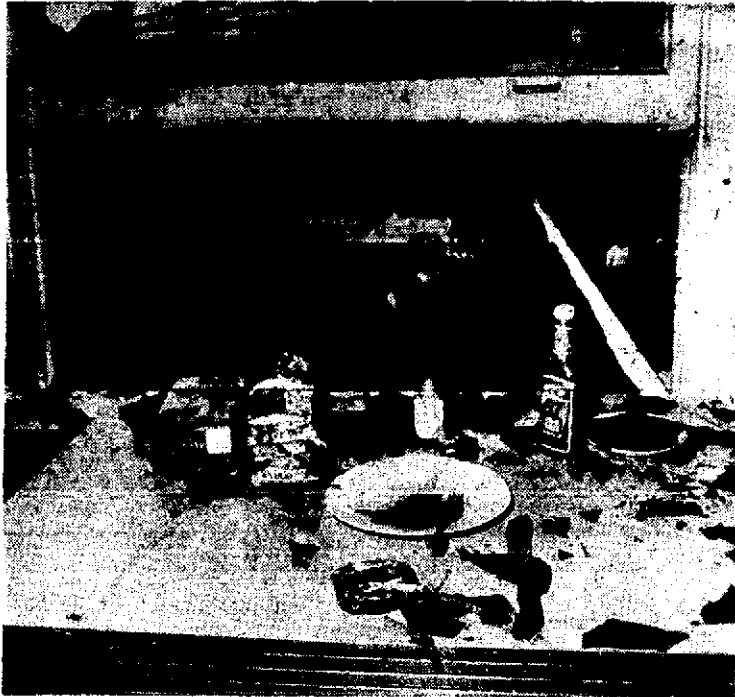

Heavy rains and low-hanging clouds cut the number of air strikes over half their normal level on Thursday, spokesmen said. The conventional jets made just 219 bombing raids, the lowest number since April 13. During the last month, the daily average over South Vietnam has been 410 strikes.

screaming for help. When residents went to aid her the men in the cars fled.

Officers said when they arrived the woman appeared to be bleeding profusely from a severe cut on one hand.

She was dead on arrival at Long Beach Community Hospital. Medical authorities said she had suffered several stab wounds in the chest.

Bostard said the woman was black, 28 to 29-years-old, 5-feet, 3-inches tall and weighed about 150 pounds. The attack occurred at 9 p.m.

Table set for dinner---and death

Mrs. Dorothy G. Davis, 52, burned to death Friday night in fire which swept kitchen of her apartment at 2080 Atlantic Ave. Police said victim's husband, Theodore, 67, was asleep when fire broke out, awakened and tried futilely to douse flames with garden hose. Mrs. Davis' body was found near table set for evening meal. Cause of 6:25 blaze is undetermined, authorities said.

ANGELA JURY LOCKED UP

ed. "Right now, we're just trying to get as much information as possible."

The seven men and five women chose as jurors 14 weeks ago listened intently as Superior Court Judge Richard E. Arnason instructed them in law, then ordered them to begin deliberations.

"Remember that you are not partisans or advocates in this matter," Arnason told the panel, "but are judges."

MISS DAVIS, a brightly colored striped shawl about her shoulders, kept her eyes on the judge as he outlined possible verdicts.

Her father, brothers and sister-in-law were in court as the jury got the case which began nearly two years ago on Aug. 7, 1970, when a judge and three abductors were slain in a Marin County Courthouse invasion. Miss Davis wasn't there, but her guns were found at the scene and she soon was charged. The state claimed she plotted the invasion and was as guilty as those there.

The judge gave jurors 11 possible verdicts which could be used in numerous possible combinations. They must bring in separate verdicts on the three counts of murder, kidnap and conspiracy.

Although Miss Davis, a former UCLA philosophy instructor, is charged with first-degree murder, Arnason gave jurors the option to consider lesser offenses — second-degree murder, voluntary manslaughter and involuntary manslaughter.

HOWEVER, he concentrated most of his instructions on the most complex charge against Miss Davis — conspiracy.

He interrupted his instructions to have the court clerk read to the jurors the conspiracy charge in Miss Davis' grand jury indictment, a lengthy count which contains 12 charged overt acts which could point toward conspiracy if so interpreted by jurors.

"As to this defendant," said the judge, "you must decide whether she was a conspirator, whether she joined willfully and knowingly in a conspiracy."

With Miss Davis absent from the crime scene, it appeared unlikely the jury could decide the murder and kidnap counts before first deciding on conspiracy. However, the judge did not make this a prerequisite. He said that each count must be decided separately.

THE STATE has contended that Miss Davis, a black militant and Communist Party member, conspired with Jonathan Jackson, 17, and others unnamed in the indictment to take hostages at the Marin courthouse, then seek to exchange them for the freedom of Jackson's convict brother, George, whom Miss Davis loved.

The defense described the state's case as "a gigantic hoax" and said its admittedly circumstantial evidence had not proven any connection between Miss Davis and the Marin violence.

A key point in the conspiracy charge was whether Miss Davis knowingly furnished her guns to Jonathan Jackson for the shootings.

The judge explained in detail the legal aspects of circumstantial evidence, notably that if any piece of such evidence is susceptible to two interpretations, one which points to innocence and one to guilt, jurors are duty bound to accept the one pointing

Scientists hunting for life in space

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Discovery of other civilizations in the far reaches of space may "occur in the lifetime of many of us," according to a prestigious group of astronomers.

"In the relatively near future, we foresee the construction of major facilities, such as a giant radio receiving array, and the operation of a project that will have as its goal the detection of intelligent life elsewhere," the astronomers said.

"In the long run this may be one of science's most important and most profound contributions of mankind and our civilization."

A proposal for "devoting major resources to a search for other intelligent beings" in the universe was made in a report by the National Academy of Sciences' Astronomy Committee after a three-year study of needed astronomical research.

The committee, headed by Jesse L. Greenstein of the California Institute of Technology, recommended programs calling for additional tools for plumbing space, seeking to answer such questions as:

—Does intelligent life exist elsewhere in the universe?

—Whether we live in a closed universe or an open one that will expand forever.

—Whether there are other solar systems.

—How planets form.

The report said technology is available to detect the radio emissions normal to earth's civilizations. In recommending a sustained attempt to establish contact with other worlds, the report said:

"The promise is now too great either to turn away from it or to wait much longer before devoting major resources to a search for other intelligent beings."

McGovern, HHH both confident as vote nears

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — George McGovern, leading Hubert Humphrey by landslide proportions in a major poll Friday predicted the California primary next Tuesday will "lay to rest the notion that my strength is confined only to teen-agers."

The South Dakota senator said he anticipates making "a very strong breakthrough" politically by matching Humphrey's voter strength with blacks and outscoring him with Mexican-Americans and Jews.

Humphrey, meantime, declared that even if he loses in California — "and I don't expect to" — he will not drop out of the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"There are hundreds and hundreds of uncommitted delegates who do not look with favor upon a McGovern nomination," Humphrey told a news conference.

With only four campaigning days left before the crucial showdown primary with its big bloc of 271 delegates votes, McGovern and Humphrey concentrated Friday on the San Francisco area. McGovern planned to ride an old-fashioned whistlestop train down California's farm-rich central valley today.

Humphrey branded as "rather unrealistic" the California Poll which Thursday night showed him trailing McGovern by 20 percentage points. "I refuse to accept it," he said on a radio talk show, adding, "We'll just do the best we can. I just can't say it's all over."

Humphrey contended the poll miscalculated his strength with minority and blue-collar workers. The Minnesota senator said he carried black communities by as much as 10 to 1 in other states and did not believe there was "a new breed" in California.

McGovern told enthusiastic supporters "the only question now is the margin of victory."

Looking past Tuesday's California primary, McGovern said he would almost immediately begin campaigning in the June 20 New York contest. He was endorsed at a San Francisco co news conference Friday by New York Democratic leaders Meade Esposito of Brooklyn and Patrick Cunningham of the Bronx. They predicted McGovern will win 90 per cent of New York's 278 delegates.

CAMPAIGN '72

Meantime, California

Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. said final results of the primary may not be known for two weeks if Alabama Gov. George Wallace records a substantial write-in vote.

"The write-in vote will delay vote-counting in most counties by only two or three hours," he said, "but some counties will not be able to begin tabulating write-in votes until several days after the election."

George Wallace Jr. campaigned in Los Angeles for his partially paralyzed father. He told a news conference the Alabama governor enjoys a "surprising amount" of youth support.

EQUAL TIME

asked about her plans for using the television time, and she replied she hadn't yet formulated any plans.

Earlier Friday, the FCC had rejected her plea, and her lawyer had made an immediate appeal to the court.

The FCC also rejected a similar bid by Yorty.

The two front-running contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination, Humphrey of Minnesota and McGovern of South Dakota, have appeared together on CBS and NBC broadcasts that have been popularly styled as "debates" between the two candidates.

The issue before the appeals court hinged largely on whether the appearances were debates.

Chicano wave for Nixon seen

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — U.S. Treasurer Romana A. Banuelos said Friday President Nixon would draw "strong support" from Mexican-Americans in his re-election bid because of his federal appointments.

If they were, parties agreed, then the federal law requiring equal time would apply.

If they were news programs which were the product of journalistic judgment exempted from the equal-time rule, then the rule would not apply.

The FCC found in favor of the networks, holding that the programs were "bona fide news interviews within the meaning" of the exemption.

Arguing before the court of appeals, Mrs. Chisholm's attorney, Tom Asher, compared the networks' position to the airing of a boxing match between Muhammad Ali and a kangaroo, they denying heavyweight champion Joe Frazier equal time because the match had been staged on a regularly scheduled news interview program.

NBC was not a party to the action. The network has offered Mrs. Chisholm an appearance on its Today Show Monday morning.

A representative of ABC raised the possibility that its McGovern-Humphrey broadcast would be canceled if the appeals court decision goes against the networks.

Nonphysician chairs L.B. area health unit

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

"The health consumer is going to be heard from." The words are those of Mrs. Betty Seaman, new chairman of the Long Beach District Committee of California Regional Medical Programs.

She's the first nonphysician to hold the post since the committee was formed about six years ago.

Device scans inside brain

A renowned medical inventor visited Long Beach Friday and said he now has developed a scope to study the inside of the brain in search of brain tumors.

The inventor, Dr. Shigeto Ikeda, is best known for his development of the first flexible bronchofiber-scope, a device that has improved the diagnosis of lung cancer.

Dr. Ikeda, in an interview through an interpreter, said he has used the brain-search device in three cases so far.

A CHEST surgeon, Dr. Ikeda has been associated with the National Cancer Center Hospital, Tokyo, Japan, for the past 10 years.

He answered questions for doctors in presentations Friday at St. Mary's Hospital of Long Beach and the Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital.

Most of the presentation was the showing of a motion picture demonstrating the operation of the fiber bronchoscope, which snakes through the bronchia, the air passageways inside the lungs, enabling an examining physician to look for lung tumors.

Because the science of fiber optics makes it possible for light to turn corners, the flexible bronchoscope enables a physician to examine areas of the lung otherwise inaccessible for direct viewing.

It is so constructed that a doctor can use a tiny device called a curette to take a bite of tissue from a suspected lung tumor for microscopic examination. The procedure, called biopsy, enables doctors to tell whether or not the tissue is malignant.

Dr. Ikeda said his newest device, an encephaloscope, is only four millimeters in diameter and can be inserted through a burr-hole in the skull and moved into the ventricles (cavities) of the brain.

He also has developed a cardioscope, which permits direct viewing inside the heart. Carbon dioxide is used to push back blood to permit visualization, he explained.

DR. IKEDA has been visiting major medical centers throughout the nation to show his film. His travels also have taken him to Grand Junction, Colo., where there is a high incidence of lung cancer because of uranium mining activities in that area.

He will lecture today at UCLA medical school and is scheduled to assist in a procedure at Los Alamitos General Hospital.

Dr. Ikeda was introduced at lecture sessions by Dr. Y. Fred Fujikawa, Long Beach chest surgeon.

Dr. Ikeda said there will be no lecture sessions Sunday. He has set aside the day to visit the Queen Mary.

But she's no newcomer to the health field. Her regular job is district executive of the Long Beach Harbor Area of the American Cancer Society. And as a former undercover agent for law enforcement agencies, she's helped to expose many a medical quack.

ONE OF HER GOALS is to make the community more aware of Regional Medical Programs and to understand just what the organization does.

"You say RMP to a lot of people and they don't know what you're talking about," he says.

Part of the trouble, she admits, is that the role of RMP has been changing ever since it began.

RMP was created as an outgrowth of the Heart Disease, Stroke and Cancer Act enacted by the 89th Congress. The legislation called for "a creative partnership" between the nation's medical scientists, practicing physicians and other health resources as a means of translating new knowledge more rapidly into patient care.

So, at the outset, RMP was mainly a medical education program for health professionals involving heart, stroke and cancer.

No more. With the enactment of new legislation in 1970, RMP began to broaden its scope into matters of health manpower and health-care delivery itself. RMP officials and committees exist at federal, state, regional and local levels.

Long Beach's new district board has 50 members. It includes not only doctors of medicine but also representatives of voluntary agencies, hospitals, City of Long Beach, neighborhood centers, Long Beach State University, Long Beach City College, the Unified School District, Chamber of Commerce, Free Clinic, Harbor Dental Society, Community Planning Council, California Nurses Association and the National Association of Social Workers.

Charges dropped in collision case

Charges against Jeff Shackleford, 21, of Manhattan Beach, involved in a serious traffic accident in Carson April 27, have been dropped without a formal complaint filed, sheriff's officials confirmed Friday.

Shackleford's small American car was virtually demolished when it was bent double around a light standard after colliding with another vehicle making a left turn at the intersection of Wilmington Boulevard and Victoria Street.

A sheriff's officer indicated Shackleford would be arrested for speeding and for possession of marijuana. However, Sgt. Carl Kennedy of the Firestone Sheriff's Station traffic detail said that because of the critical nature of his injuries, Shackleford was not placed under arrest.

Shackleford is still hospitalized with two broken legs a broken wrist and internal injuries.

The implication of marijuana possession developed because a "green leafy substance" was found at the scene in the vicinity of Shackleford's auto, Kennedy indicated.

"Laboratory tests later determined only faint traces of marijuana included in the 'green leafy substance' and there was insufficient evidence to link it directly to Shackleford," Kennedy said.

Finch speaks at dedication

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Education Editor

America's first noncollegiate research laboratory devoted exclusively to complex educational issues was dedicated Friday in Los Alamitos by Presidential Counselor Robert H. Finch.

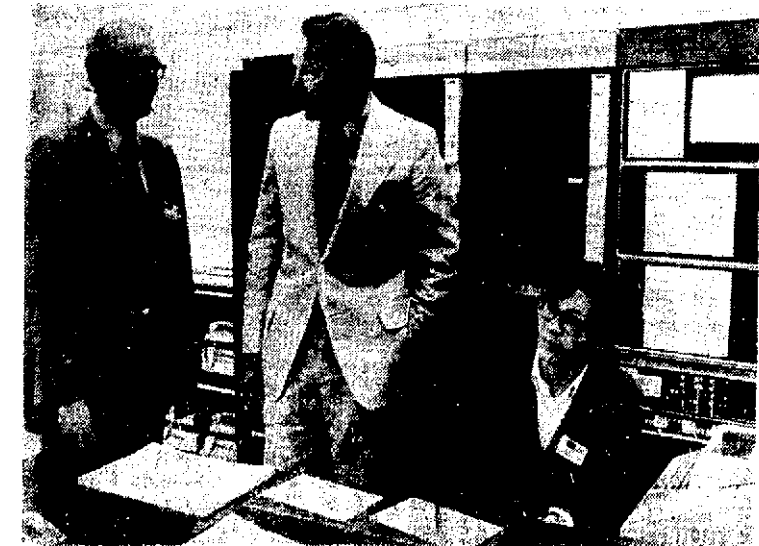

"You here at Southwest Regional Laboratory are not likely to produce a 'learning pill' or a motivating potion," the Nixon cabinet officer and former lieutenant governor of California told 100 staff members, educators and officials present for the ceremony.

"But you can produce important improvements in education and point the way to reform," he declared.

Plans for the innovative facility were completed while Finch was Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, which is the government agency that built, and continues to fund, the lab.

The $4.2-million, two-story structure at 4665 Lampson Ave. was located on land carved from the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station. Employing 200 full-time staffers, and operating with a first-year budget of $3.5 million, SRL's program is intended to design and produce "quality-verified" instructional systems.

Finch, "especially glad to be here because this is something I helped nurture," joined a growing number of high-level critics of education.

U.S. blamed for high death toll on highways

By CHARLES SUTTON
Staff Writer

The president of the National Safety Council accused the federal government Friday of putting dollars ahead of human lives in its implementation of the nation's highway safety laws.

Both Congress and the executive branch are aware that it will take anywhere from $1 billion to $2 billion a year to properly enforce the Motor Vehicle Safety Act and the National Highway Safety Act, Howard Pyle said.

YET, SINCE the two laws were passed in 1966, the federal government has spent less than $267 million on their implementation. The result, he added, is a steadily rising death toll on the nation's highways.

Pyle made his comments in a talk before 275 persons attended the 18th annual awards luncheon of the Long Beach chapter of the National Safety Council. The luncheon was held aboard the Queen Mary.

The former Arizona governor said that before the two highway safety laws were enacted, 38,000 persons died in traffic accidents in a single year. Since then the figure has risen to 54,000.

"A tight fiscal policy has been given priority over human lives, and the cost has been thousands of lives and billions of dollars in economic waste," he declared.

By 1973 or 1974, Pyle added, the nation's highway death toll will have reached a staggering 2 million.

The safety official also called on the nation's businessmen to get behind the new federal Occupational Safety and Health Act.

Describing the act as a boon to job safety, Pyle said "this is not the time to dig in your heels and resist, but to cooperate."

USS Cook to host 'Cypress day'

Long Beach's newest ship, the destroyer escort USS Cook, will hold a "Cypress Open House" Sunday from 1-4 p.m.

Guests of honor will be the citizens of Cypress, who adopted the ship and gave the crew a welcome dinner dance a week ago.

Veterinarian faces trial

Dr. Donald I. Ogden, 46-year-old Long Beach veterinarian, Friday was ordered to appear in Long Beach Superior Court June 16 to answer a felony charge of arson.

San Pedro Municipal Court Judge Walter S. Binns held the defendant to answer after a two-day closed hearing.

Los Angeles City Fire Department investigators brought the charges against Ogden last May 5 in connection with an Easter Sunday fire which destroyed a San Pedro animal hospital.

Judge Binns scheduled Ogden's Superior Court appearance for 9 a.m. in Department J and continued the defendant's $5,000 bail.

'Winner in every respect'

Light Opera scores with 'Fiddler'

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critic

"Fiddler on the Roof" is the climax to Long Beach Civic Light Opera's current season, its 24th year of service to this community. Fittingly, the production unveiled Friday night in Jordan Auditorium is a winner in every respect.

Sure, the lighting sometimes looks unfinished, the microphones squeak intermittently, and the chorus is often slovenly in diction. But these are minor flaws in an otherwise exceptionally tight mounting. This "Fiddler" really plays.

WERE THE production a failure, the one to blame would have been general director Gary Davis. Since it is just the opposite, he is the one to credit. He may not always have been able to elicit the most nuanced readings from his cast — we get the feeling sometimes, that certain ones are locked into characterizations from earlier productions — but he has managed to make them work as an ensemble and function smoothly.

And from the two principals, Davis has achieved full-out performances worthy of their roles.

Gary Gordon, by now, is a CLO veteran of long standing. I remember him from an even earlier period, when as a budding Savoyard, he appeared all around the area as Dick Deadeye, as sergeant of police in "Pirates of Penzance," and as a stage director (whatever happened to Gilbert and Sullivan performances around here, anyway?).

All those earlier experiences have prepared Gordon well. His Teyve is stage-wise, legitimately sung, lived-in. It may be possible to quibble about his reading of many of the lines, but there can be no denying his laugh-getting abilities, or his master of the role's externals.

Nor can we resist Belle Ellig's Golde, a characterization full of telling detail and bright vocalism.

JOANNA HALL creates a Tzeitel of dignity and warmth, Diana Monter a lusciously-sung (the voice is exceptional) and deeply attractive Hodel. Cozette Walker a Chava as lovely as she is graceful. The daughter's beaux are played by Glenn Bradley, Darren Kelly, and Gary Brunson; each is a stand-out though Kelly shows the most vocal promise.

From the remaining 35 cast members, there are some strong performances, some weak, and some neutral. Of the strong ones, we should mention those given by Joe Kaye (Lazar Wolf), Carolyn Taylor (Grandma Tzeitel), Pauline Foley (Fruma Sarah), and Barry Stevens (Fiddler). And everyone, or nearly everyone, executes Richard Tarczynski's attractive choreography with brio.

In the pit, leading a well-prepared 19-member band, David Hubler conducts a firm and on-target musical performance.

JUNE 3-11

The month of June passes all too soon.

Sheep sleep now... Boer Jack Johnson died June 11, 1944... New moon June 11... West Point founded June 9, 1802... Average length of days for week, 15 hours, 13 minutes... Comstock sold his rights in his silver claims for $11,000 June 8, 1859... Cranberries in bloom, and bees are honey-loud now... Men's dreams as well as reason often change with each new season.

Old Farmer's Riddle: Can a leopard change his spots? (Answer below.)

Ask the Old Farmer: While riding through Canada and Maine we saw house after house with weather-beaten ladders on their roofs. Could you tell me why they are up on the roof? D.A.C., Chicago.

Handy when a chimney gets on fire.

Home Hints: To reduce heartburn, drink a large glass of water... Frosted potatoes should be thawed in hot water, but frozen apples must be thawed in cold water... Leftover coffee poured on aphid-infested and ant-ridden plants completely kills them. Riddle Answer: Yes, when he is tired of one place, he can go to another.

GARDENING

ZINNIAS... They've Come a Long, Long Way

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Zinnias have come a "long, long way" from the wild ones found in Mexico, Colorado, Texas and Chile.

One of the zinnia tales that sounds logical, tells of a wandering botanist in a mountainous sector of Mexico who found some blue, faded flowers, several holding their natural shape. He gathered them in a sack, hoping that some would mature and set seeds. A group of Mexican handits found him and greedily took away the bag stuffed with faded blossoms. Being superstitious they didn't kill him when they discovered the old flowers, but returned the bag and let him go. They felt it would be bad luck to murder a weak-minded person. The faded flowers were taken to Europe. A few grew and were named Zinnias, for the supposedly weak minded botanist, Dr. J. Zinn, who discovered them!

ZINNIAS love all the sunshine and heat they can get, needs lots of water and bloom best when fed several times during their development state. They grow easily when sown. The gardener can select the cupid, small, medium, bicolor, pompon, dahlia, cacti, up to giant size flowers in a wide range of bright colors. The varieties of small plants in packs are more limited.

Most roses are grown in the garden, because they grow huskily and are less desirable as container plants. However, there are at least three floribunda type roses that are ideal for container culture.

THEY ARE lower and bushier growers than others and they provide masses of flowers in clusters. This means longer color in the patio area, because the clusters don't all bloom at the same time. They bloom for about 10 months of the year!

The three floribundas for nifred Coulter, Roman Holiday, Tom Tom and Winnifred Coulter. Roman Holiday has vividly bright orange blossoms that don't fade even in the sunniest and hottest locations.

WINNIFRED Coulter was introduced by John Van Barneveld, head rosarian of the famous rose pagant rose garden at Rose Hills Memorial Park in Whittier. The flowers are two-toned. The petals are rose red with a white underside. Van Barneveld grows a limited number of them. Therefore, gardeners must place their orders in advance. Both Roman Holiday and Winnifred Coulter are compact growers. They grow to about 24 inches. Tom Tom grows about 30 inches high. This variety has oxblood red stems and bright pink flowers.

SOME gardeners become alarmed because possibly 20 to 25 per cent of the rose leaves yellow and finally drop off. This is due to the oncoming new growth which finally is followed by still another crop of flowers. The old leaves can't last forever. This leaf drop occurs about four or five times during the summer. Roses that are insecticide sprayed too often, also develop the yellow leaf condition.

It mystifies gardeners when a new, lush rose branch tip wilts. There's no indication of a pest problem in these cases, and no other branches on that particular bush are affected.

THE CONDITION is due to a flying pest that stings the rose stem several inches below the new tip growth, lays an egg which begins to bore down the stem, causing the rose tip to wilt.

The gardener should closely inspect the branch several inches below the wilted area. Usually there's a mark. It looks as if someone took a pin and horizontally scratched the branch. Count to two or three leaves down below the mark and cut it off. Split the wilted branch down. More times than not, the minute borer is there. Throw it in the rubbish bin. That's all one can do for rose stem borers because there's no preventive insecticide spray one can use.

JOBS TO DO NOW

WATERING IS THE MOST important gardening job throughout the summer. Most Southern California soils didn't get enough winter rainfall. Deep but less frequent watering is better than light, superficial, frequent waterings. Soil should be watered well around plants, then lightly scratched and topdressed with manure or some fine organic mulch material. Lawns, too, should be topdressed. Such organic coverings retain moisture longer and need less frequent waterings.

MATURE TREES, whether fruit, lowering or shade, should be thoroughly soaked to a depth of four feet. Avocados are the exception. They are watered to a two foot depth, but watered from the trunk to two feet beyond the drip-line of the tree.

TREES growing in lawns, too, need deep watering. They don't get sufficient water from lawn sprinklers. Gardeners should water them deeply at least once a month, depending upon the kind of soil.

F.S. Cassady Yorty hits 'network czars' Rites set over TV snub in 'debates'

Services will be conducted Monday at 12:30 p.m. in Mottell's Chapel for Frank Sylvester Cassady, former Long Beach businessman and member of the Planning Commission. Mr. Cassady, who had resided in Palm Desert since his retirement, died Thursday in an Indio hospital at the age of 75.

He was in the used car dealer and real estate business for many years here, and served on the City Planning Commission for eight years. He was past president of the Used Car Dealers Association, and member of Long Beach After Dinner Speakers Club, Downtown Optimists, Elks Lodge 838, and American Legion Alamitos Bay Post.

Surviving are his wife, Bernice E., of the Palm Desert residence; a son, Frank J. of Mission Viejo; daughters, Marilyn Hall of Long Beach, Catherine Tiss of Visalia, Janet Shaffner of Pennsylvania; a stepbrother, Sam Harbott; stepson, Kathryn Dinger, and 10 grandchildren.

Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty Friday assailed "network czars back East" for not including him in the televised debates between his Democratic presidential rivals George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey.

The maverick mayor warned a Long Beach Loins Club luncheon audience at the Lafayette Hotel to beware of "a Madison Avenue smoke screen" campaign.

Zeroing in on the televised debates, Yorty said: "It was my one chance to get the California message across. But the network czars back East decided who was going to be heard from."

Yorty lashed out at the campaign promises of McGovern and Humphrey and denounced "fellow travelers and dupes" for dictating this country's handling of the war.

He praised President Nixon's decision to blockade the port of Haiphong but said it was a step he (Yorty) had advocated in 1965, along with bombing supplies "north of the DMZ before they (the enemy) could have used them."

Yorty said all "I'm hoping for now is that Nixon won't go for a ceasefire that would leave part of South Vietnam in the hands of the enemy."

"I wish, for a change, that the candidates would forget the partisan politics and back the President of the United States — back the country."

HEALTH UNIT CHIEF

munity health needs and then establish ways to meet those needs.

"One way to seek grants to set up systems to deliver services. RMP helps to set up systems but is not involved in actual delivery of health care."

RMP has already identified Long Beach health needs. Last year, Mrs. Seaman was chairman of a Health Planning Task Force that did just that.

Mrs. Seaman says more recent surveys and studies conducted by others are once again pointing up the same needs.

She personally believes that the No. 1 health problem facing Long Beach today involves transportation.

"It's a complex problem," she says.

There's more to it than just putting someone on a bus, she continues. Perhaps the patient on the way to the treatment center is in a wheelchair or uses crutches.

"The American Cancer Society, for instance, provides volunteer transportation for certain cancer victims. We have one case in which the patient must be provided special transportation, yet that person is only two blocks away from the treatment center."

"There are a lot of things the healthy person doesn't think about. If you don't see well or walk well, you can imagine how stairs or an escalator would look to you."

Mrs. Seaman is encouraged at the direction the local RMP committee is taking.

"For the first time, people are sitting down together to discuss health-care matters."

By "people" she means both the providers — the health-care professionals — and the consumer — the patients or potential patients.

MRS. SEAMAN TOOK over her new post Thursday. New vice chairman of the committee is Dr. David H. Payne, administrator and medical director of Pacific Hospital of Long Beach. Re-elected secretary was Helen Wakefield, representing Westside Neighborhood Center. Member-at-large on the executive committee is William J. Loveday, representing Memorial Hospital Medical Center.

When Mrs. Seaman says that the health consumer is going to be heard from, you can also interpret that as meaning that Mrs. Seaman is also going to be heard from.

She calls 'em as she sees 'em, and has done so ever since she started exposing health quackery.

As she assumed office, she began by commenting on the recent actions of one committee of doctors.

"Those doctors," she said without hesitation, "showed abysmal ignorance."

Opposite Christian views of President's Vietnam moves

RELIGION

INDEPENDENT, PRESS-TELEGRAM—B-3
Long Beach, Calif., Sat., June 3, 1972

A tremendous division still exists in American Protestantism on what the Christian attitude should be toward the Vietnam conflict, editorial statements in two leading magazines reveal.

Addressing themselves to the new military situation, Christianity Today, conservative evangelical voice, points to the attack by the North Vietnamese and calls for support of the President even if one thinks his policies mistaken. Diametrically opposed, the ecumenical magazine Christianity and Crisis, founded by the late Reinhold Niebuhr, terms the American course a moral disaster and calls for opposition.

Key excerpts from the editorials follow.

FROM THE Christianity and Crisis editorial, entitled "The Bombing of America":

The bombs falling on Vietnam are exploding in America today. There they destroy human lives and the land. Here they destroy morale, confidence and national honor.

The renewed bombings afflict our soul with a triple shame: (1) they pour destruction on a distant people (2) for a cause in which few Americans believe (3) by the order of a President who for four years has repeatedly promised to end the war.

The promise was always a brash gamble. Somehow, Mr. Nixon thought, he could bring American troops home at the same time shore up a South Vietnamese Government that has failed notoriously to win the loyalty of its people.

Now, as The New Yorker has recently pointed out, the American armed forces have devised new ways of making war. "Never has a nation unleashed so much violence with so little risk to itself. It's the Government's way of waging a war without support in their own country... Who could have guessed that, after all that had already happened, there would be the dishonor of going on with the killing in a cause that we were no longer willing to die for?"

Of course, the obscene logic of the system is not quite perfect. A few of our airmen die. A few more are taken prisoners, hapless victims of the flawed plot to fight without risk. Even an insensitive Commander-in-Chief must take account of them.

Others, believing that God loves Asians no less than Americans, abhor the whole scheme to make the war politically benign by shifting the casualty counts from American to Asian ledgers.

For an increasing number of Americans the enemies are not overseas. They are now in Washington.

(The editorial was signed by 17, including staff members and such contributing editors as Margaret Mead, Harvey Cox, Robert McAfee Brown, Michael Novak and Rosemary Ruether.)

FROM THE Christianity Today editorial, entitled "Plain Talk on Vietnam":

Mr. Nixon's actions have aroused a storm of criticism and protest. A few voices — but only a few — have noted the perplexing fact that while many have condemned Nixon's actions in the most sweeping terms, very few critics have been honest enough to place it in the context of the Blitzkrieg to which it is a response. As President and Commander in Chief, Nixon has the responsibility of making the decisions on Viet Nam. Rallies, threats of impeachment, and the like will not deter him — nor should they.

Under our system of checks and balances, the President's power is not absolute. The Congress has the authority to tie his hands and change his policy... Of course, if Congress were to take this step, it would have to assume the responsibility for the consequences, including the impending military debacle that the President, by his controversial actions, is trying to prevent...

It is widely questioned whether we should ever have gotten into Viet Nam in the first place... But we are already in Viet Nam, and Mr. Nixon has been trying desperately to extricate us from this entanglement. Anyone who thinks he hasn't is blind to reality. It certainly is in the President's own political interest to do so. But getting out is incomparably harder than getting in.

Whether we approve or

The president of the Long Beach Board of Harbor Commissioners fired back Monday at Councilman Wayne Sharp, who last week said "the Harbor Department has a shortage of people who understand the problems of the shipping industry."
"I take strong objection to that comment," said Robinson A. Reid during a meeting of the Harbor Commission Board Monday afternoon. "It is incorrect and wrong."
Reid said he would "put the personnel of this Harbor Department up against any in the United States."
James G. Craig Jr., a former president of the harbor board, joined Reid in admonishing Sharp.
"It's obvious Mr. Sharp doesn't have the facts," Craig said. Sharp's comments about Harbor Department personnel were made after the council approved creation of the post of assistant director of port operations.
At Monday's meeting of the board, Reid said: "I wish Councilman Sharp was in the audience. If he was I would say the same thing—maybe even a little stronger."

Why Presbyterians voted to quit on Protestant unity

By LES RODNEY

The vote which took the United Presbyterians out of the Consultation on Church Union (COCU) was a shock to most of the leaders and many of the delegates, we learn.

The 411-310 vote came at the very end of the nine-day General Assembly in Denver. Observers say the outcome was at least partly the result of confusion. It seems that some delegates did not realize they could vote against the controversial plan of union without pulling out of the negotiations altogether.

That, however, was only part of the story, it is reported. Some of the vote could be attributed to still smoldering resentment over last year's $10,000 grant to the Angela Davis defense by an arm of the denomination. A strongly conservative minority group called the Presbyterian Lay Committee has helped keep that resentment alive.

What has that to do with the dream of Christian unity? Nothing, really, except that to some delegates a vote against COCU was also a way of expressing unhappiness with national leadership. (Just as many home owners who feel frustrated and powerless about high property taxes take it out on school bond issues.)

ALL THESE factors put together still would not fully explain a vote to pull the United Presbyterian Church out of something it was most instrumental in starting in the first place.

It was twelve years ago when Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, then Presbyterian leader, preached a historic sermon on Protestant unity in a San Francisco Episcopal cathedral. The Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Methodists, Disciples, Congregationalists and Southern Presbyterians began exploratory talks, joined by three Negro denominations, and with observers from many others.

Much was accomplished in finding and defining common ground and remaining differences, and in fostering better relations. A few years ago COCU actually seemed well on the way toward some kind of loose union in a 25-million-member "Church of Christ United," which would allow for the retention of cherished traditional distinctions.

What boobytrapped COCU and probably doomed it was the growth in America of a religious populism, part of the national sentiment against large impersonal administration and against the bureaucratic handing down of decisions from on high. This sentiment, cutting across "conservative" and "liberal" lines, was strongly expressed earlier this year by the United Church of Christ, which all but read itself out of the merger plan, though not quite.

CUTTING even a layer deeper than this, the further fact is that with all the undoubted ecumenical advances that have been made, Mr., Mrs., Miss and Ms. Average Churchgoer are not quite ready to give up the familiar for the unknown. The groundwork had not been sufficiently laid down where it counts, on the local church level. How could it be, when most of the pastors themselves have strongly mixed feelings about it?

If the Presbyterian vote, therefore, should not have come as a total surprise, it was, nonetheless, very startling. No other denomination has thrown up its hands and quit on the Consultations, in which each group has invested years of thought, energies and hopes. No participant was yet committed to the current plan of union, and even with the steam clearly gone out of the drive for formal union, the continuing Consultation could be seen as valuable in itself.

If nothing else, the vote at Denver showed that everything is NOT always cut and dried at a convention!

After the vote, we are told, there was an emotional kickback against the decision, a sort of "what have we done?" reaction. William P. Thompson, top administrative officer of the denomination for the past six years, took the floor, saying he had to express his personal feelings on the action, which he termed turning the Presbyterian back on other Christians.

"You invited them to a banquet and now you have slammed the door in their face," he said.

Many delegates swarmed around Thompson and congratulated him for speaking up. A last minute motion to reconsider actually won a thumping majority, 396-244, a larger margin by 51 than had originally voted to drop out of COCU! But it fell short of the two thirds needed for reconsideration, so the United Presbyterian Church is formally out of the Consultation.

IT REMAINS to be seen whether there will be any domino theory at work. The Southern Presbyterians have barely patched up a hotly divisive fight, and some among them can surely be expected to say that since COCU seems too heavy for the "more liberal" United Presbyterians, what are the Southern Presbyterians still doing in it? More importantly, the action at Denver may have some repercussions within the ranks of COCU's largest single participant by far, the giant United Methodist Church.

All of which, from this vantage point, may merely be hastening the inevitable. COCU was not an idea whose time had come. It was exactly when it moved closer to formal ratification that it became clear that the foundation of local support was not there.

For those in the major Protestant denominations who feel that a return to narrow denominationalism would be disastrous for the Christian mission in the years ahead, the only way to go now that COCU lies mortally wounded would seem to be in the direction of patiently deepening and widening true Christian unity "from below," and not worrying about organizational forms which, in their own good time and with a little bit of judicious help, will inevitably flow from such new realities.

$200,000 addition completes plan for Our Saviour's Lutheran Church

A $200,000 educational building and administration complex will be dedicated Sunday at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, completing the master plan for one of Long Beach's oldest congregations.

The two-story edifice, says the pastor, Rev. Virgil F. Bjerke, will provide 18 classrooms, two child-care nursery rooms, a large library, conference room and remodeled office complex.

"A small but beautiful new prayer chapel has also been added near the Junipero sidewalk," Pastor Bjerke adds. "This is for the convenience of the general public throughout the day, with doors unlocked." The chapel will accommodate small groups, or the individual who stops by for a moment of prayer and meditation.

The modern master plan was launched at 370 Junipero Ave. with a large sanctuary in 1939. Dwight Kingsbury has been chairman of the Building Committee during the past 23 years, and has seen the church plant grow to a valuation of more than a million dollars, reflecting the solid and many-sided activities of the church in the community.

The addition brings about 6,500 square feet of classroom space to the church, plus 1,440 square feet of covered walks, a new patio and an expanded parking lot. Architect is Carl Irwin of Long Beach.

Rev. E. J. Cornils, executive of the South Pacific

District of the American Lutheran Church, will deliver the sermon at 8:30 and 11 a.m. and will conduct the rite of dedication.

'In 2 worlds,' says black Jesuit priest

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (U) — Rev. Joseph A. Brown, 27, became the first black Jesuit priest in the Midwest during ordination ceremonies here.

"I find myself existing in two different worlds today," Father Brown said. "I talk to whites in a certain way, using one kind of vocabulary and to blacks in another way, using another kind of vocabulary."

Bishop Harold R. Perry, Auxiliary of New Orleans, the first black to become a bishop in the Catholic Church officiated at the ceremony.

President and the Congress as a whole has shown unwillingness to take steps that could negate his actions. However, the people will have their say in November. At that time the electorate can return Richard Nixon to the White House or send him home. If they do the latter, they should send home a lot of senators and congressmen as well for permitting the President to continue a policy they had the power but not the civic courage to stop.

Meanwhile all Americans, and especially Christians, should stand by the President, even if they think his policy is mistaken. Every Christian should pray that what is being done will lead to peace and justice.

REACTIONS OF COCU LEADERS AND BLAKE

Withdrawal of the United Presbyterian Church from the Consultation on Church Union was called "serious but not mortal" by COCU officials.

"No one church is essential to the Consultation," said Rev. George G. Beazley Jr., chairman and chief ecumenical officer of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). "The United Presbyterian Church is a great church with great leadership. I believe they will be back next year. They are very important to the life of the Consultation."

Rev. Paul A. Crow Jr., general secretary of COCU, said that he does not "believe this represents the feelings of the total United Presbyterian Church."

Rev. Robert W. Huston, chief United Methodist ecumenical officer, said delegates apparently did not understand that a vote for or against the present plan of union was not the same as taking part in a "process." He said a part of the misunderstanding of COCU is caused by persons who criticize national level church organizations as irrelevant, but have never read the plan of union and do not know that the document advocates "decentralization of administrative structures."

Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, Presbyterian who first proposed the Consultation, now executive of the World Council of Churches, said the delegates apparently agreed with C. Willard Heckel, newly elected moderator, that cooperation across traditional lines is more important than organic unity. He said all churches face the basic problem that led to COCU in the first place: "That separate denominations, so many of them, distort all of the churches and their programs by making all the churches more like private religious fraternities rather than what all of them claim to be — a part of the one holy catholic church."

The eight remaining participants in the Consultation are the Episcopal Church, United Methodist Church, Presbyterian Church U.S.A. (Southern), African Methodist Episcopal, African Methodist Episcopal Zion, Christian Methodist Episcopal, Christian Church (Disciples) and United Church of Christ.

Indifference to agony of others

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I heard a horrifying account on the radio some weeks ago about an elderly pedestrian killed in a hit-and-run accident. It seems as he was crossing a highway a car knocked him down. The driver did not stop and neither did the next three cars which mutilated and tossed his heap of a body across the road. The man's widow, in a state of shock, cried bitterly, "Didn't they even see that it was a human being lying in the street?"

That is something we will never really know. Were those four hit-and-run drivers so wrapped up with their own problems and in so much of a hurry that they didn't see the body? I hope to God they didn't realize what they were doing, for it is hard to believe that people could become so callous and indifferent and think only of themselves.

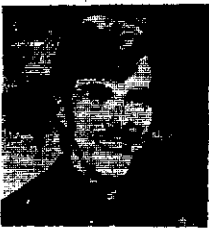

I AM REMINDED of Kitty Genovese who some years ago was attacked in front of her apartment by an unknown assailant. As she screamed for help, one man raised a window and yelled, "Let that woman alone." But no one came to her rescue.

The assailant stabbed her several times as she continued to cry in agony for help. Lights went on in the apartment building, but still no one came. She dragged herself to within 20 feet of her apartment when the killer returned and stabbed her another time. Again she pleaded, "Won't someone help me?" She lay on the floor all alone. "I'm dying," she cried to people who could hear and yet did not come to her aid. And Kitty Genovese died.

DUAL RELIGIOUS CONCERT SUNDAY

Religious artists Stella Branam, left, and Helen Ragsdale will present a dual concert with merimba, voice and narration, Sunday, 4 p.m., in Trinity Lutheran Church, Eighth Street and Linden Avenue. Miss Branam, contralto soloist at Wilshire United Methodist Church, is a concert and recording star. Miss Ragsdale won the National Mariba Contest and has toured Europe with a symphony orchestra. The program will deal with the prophecy of the Old Testament, and the fulfillment of Christ's life. The public is invited, with a freewill offering to be taken.

REAL LIVING is not withdrawing from the world into a private shell and letting someone else worry about the problems. Living is being a part of the world, problems and all, and trying to make it a better, safer, happier place to live. But we so often feel, "What can I do about it anyway?" So we don't even begin. But as an old verse says,

Little drops of water.
Little grains of sand.
Makes the mighty ocean
And the pleasant land.
Get outside yourself, get involved, get with it. Be sensitive to the needs of your fellow man.

Expect 100,000 for evangelism meet

All roads lead to 'Explo'

Cross-country runners are jogging it from California. Bicycle brigades are rolling from Wisconsin. Busloads of blacks are to come from New Orleans and Tampa and a 100-bus caravan of "Mason-Dixon delegates" from Memphis. Chartered jets have been booked in Brazil and Korea, and 250 Indians are set to hit the trail from Oklahoma.

They're all heading to Dallas, Tex. for what has been billed as the biggest evangelism training conference ever held. "Explo '72." Planners predict a turnout of 100,000.

"It has involved the largest hunt for beds ever undertaken," says Paul Eshleman, director of the conference, formally called the International Student Congress on Evangelism.

Already, he adds, every available hotel and all university housing in the Dallas area has been filled for the June 12-17 affair, and a search is on to find rooms for delegates in private homes.

A crew of 140 volunteers is canvassing residents by telephone to arrange sleeping places.

Eshleman, 26, staff leader of Campus Crusade for Christ which is sponsoring the event, said "It's going to be a unique thing. It's not for evangelizing itself, but to train people in how to do it, in how to share their faith."

The six-day schedule will involve daily morning training sessions at about 50 locations throughout to aid those looking for a personal faith.

Eshleman said that each person trained in the conference afterward will be expected to find five other persons in their home communities in August and September to undergo similar training.

"The denominations also are looking to this as a catalyst for their own efforts," he added, noting that most Protestant bodies and some Roman Catholic dioceses are planning a 1973 evangelistic drive called "Key '73."

The big turnout expected for the Dallas event also is to include about 30 Jesus music groups, such as the "Sound Foundation," "Children of the Day" and the "Armageddon Experience," plus folk singer Johnny Cash.

Bill Bright, president of the sponsoring Campus Crusade for Christ organization, says a budget of $4 million has been set for the occasion, much of it contributed by individuals and foundations, along with an expected $250,000 raised through registration fees of $75 per delegate.

Christian Scientists ask Viet prayers

A call for citizens to "bring to bear the immense power for good in prayer" on the Southeast Asia situation was made in the 3,200 Churches of Christ, Scientist, including 382 in California.

"No one can outline for another how to pray, nor do we in our prayers attempt to outline specific solutions for human conditions," the message stated.

"But let this not prevent us from joining in the deepest confidence that prayer does avail."

A front page editorial in The Christian Science Monitor also has urged prayer be used in approaching the Vietnam problem.

"The seed of peace can take root only in the prayerful thought of men," the editorial stated. It also asked citizens not to dwell on negative feelings of disgust, futility and fear.

"To do so is to fix thought on the issues that divide, and to deflect attention from the goal of harmonious world relations. It is also to fail to see that what is good in American history — the high regard for freedom and self-governance which it shares with various other lands — survives as the thread guiding its role in the progress of nations."

The Church emphasized that "it must be recognized that peace is ultimately spiritual and must be unfolded through divine power in individual thought. It cannot be planted by force, only in righteousness."

The famous Weatherford Quartet will be with us at Calvary for our great Anniversary Service on June 18. Great singing and preaching will be the order of the day. Plan ahead to be with us.

Plain Bible teaching produces the kind of faith that saves and keeps. The church is in error in sounding uncertain sounds, messages and doctrines when the whole world is crying for something trustworthy and infallible.

God's Word stands sure. You may not understand it and you may question it, but you need to STUDY it and you need to hide it in your heart. God's word stands sure! In God's plan of redemption for poor sinners like us, God has and needs only one answer! "When Christ had by Himself purged our sins . . ." God's plan stands sure, and everything is moving according to God's plan. You may not even believe in God, but everything is moving according to His plan.

Calvary is a BIBLE BELIEVING church. All substitutes for the Bible are inferior to the Bible. Come to Calvary! Calvary is for you!

Shockley ignores jeers, lectures at UCLA

B-6-INDEPENDENT,
PRESS-TELEGRAM
Long Beach, Calif., Sat., June 8, 1970

Associated Press

Controversial Prof. William Shockley of Stanford, complaining "no one listens to what I say," struggled through a 1½-hour lecture-debate before UCLA students Friday.

He threatened repeatedly because of heckling to leave the stage without finishing his lecture on his theory that blacks are intellectually inferior to whites as shown by his interpretation of IQ tests, charts and mathematics.

About students, most of them white, seldom gave him an uninterrupted minute, despite the pleas of Gabe Elias, chairman of the student bodyspeakers program, who explained "our platform invites all speakers here."

His lecture was entitled "Research Taboos on Ge-neticity of IQ." Largely it concerned unwillingness of researchers to explore his theory.

Shockley, a Nobel Prize winner in physics who helped invent the transistor, complained that the jeering students' attitude demonstrated the "lack of objectivity in the intellectual community."

He was greeted by scattered applause and a chorus of boos, and two youths unfurled a banner of the Students for a Democratic Society with a mocking "Vote Fascist" and a Nazi swastika. The banner-carrying youths sat on stage 40 feet from Shockley, who ignored them.

Shockley denied that his views are linked to fascism or racial supremacy and said that in areas other than intelligence "there are many blacks superior to many whites" — such as in eyesight. But he said he believes in the validity of IQ tests in which blacks average 15 points lower than whites.

Because of the IQ gap, he said, it would be "a dereliction of intellectual responsibility" for him to remain silent. Therefore he is speaking out on campuses and in public forums "like a preacher," he said, adding "I believe I am functioning in the most humane way of any intellectual that I know."

Reagan for Prop. 1, raps No. 9 again

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan came out for Prop. 1 Friday and against Prop. 9.

Prop. 1 is a $250 million bond issue to finance low interest home and farm loans for veterans under the Cal-Vet program.

Prop. 9 is the environmental initiative which would require immediate changes in gasoline and diesel fuel, forbid construction of nuclear power plants, and ban the use of certain pesticides and herbicides.

"PROP. 9 is not an environmental initiative, it is an environmental atrocity," Reagan said. "Instead of helping the environment, Prop. 9 would cause more smog."

The governor described the measure as an "unreasonable, unworkable attempt to put California's economy in a straightjacket."

The veteran housing loans, however, "will allow Cal-Vet to assist thousands of young veterans in their readjustment to civilian life," Reagan said.

"This program does not cost a penny of the taxpayers' money," he added.

"THE PEOPLE of California have long recognized the Cal-Vet program as one which is worthy of their support. They have approved every previous bond issue to support Cal-Vet," Reagan said.

"The program has served veterans of all wars since World War I, but those funds are now out on loan. This new bond issue is required so the state may offer the same low interest loan privilege to returning veterans from the Vietnam conflict," he said.

Clothing stolen

Clothing valued at $147 was stolen off a rack at Rothwell's Shop, 133 E. Fourth St., during business hours, Long Beach police reported Friday.

Shockley denied a report that he had "advocated" welfare bonuses to persons of low IQ who practice birth control, saying he had just advanced the notion to "think about." Then he added "what is wrong with it actually?"

He said for the ungifted to reproduce meant "a form of genetic enslavement" for the human race and was "unkind to the children."

The professor, who has been heckled at other California campuses and sometimes refused permission to speak, retained a kindly expression on his face throughout.

He did show a trace of annoyance once. He asked for a show of hands midway through to indicate how many wanted him to go on talking. Then with a smile he whipped out an old-fashioned press camera to record the moment for history. The hands in the air then changed to obscene gestures and his smile faded. Shockley offered to debate the Harvard-Radcliffe branch of the SDS but said he'd insist on using a chess timer so that he had a fair and uninterrupted chance to talk.

WILSON RILES FOLLOWED ADVICE OF CHET HUNTLEY
—AP Wirephoto

Disc jockey Riles gave up radio work for education

SACRAMENTO — If it hadn't been for some discouraging words from newscaster Chet Huntley, a disc jockey nicknamed Dr. Rhythm might never have become head of California's public schools system, the largest in the nation.

Dr. Rhythm was the name Wilson Riles used back in the early 1950s when, as a young elementary school principal in Flagstaff, Ariz., he moonlighted as a disc jockey.

For half an hour, Monday through Friday, "I played rhythm and blues, . . . pop songs," Riles recalled to an interviewer.

THE station was 1,000-watt KGPH, whose call letters have been changed since Riles was there.

"I sold spot commercials on the station — it was a very good show. The spots were always sold 'out,'" Riles said.

During the summer of 1951, when school was out, Riles got a coveted assignment. For 2½ hours a day, he became a staff announcer.

"I came to like that sort of thing and I began thinking about a career," Riles said.

One of the broadcasters he admired was Chet Huntley, then a radio newscaster in Los Angeles.

"I knew he was in the business of doing the things I would enjoy doing — I used to listen to him all the time," Riles said.

So, when he visited Southern California, Riles secured an appointment with Huntley to talk about a career in broadcasting.

Richardson unopposed in GOP Assembly bid

Wilbur R. "Bill" Richardson, 49, of 3711 Poppy St., an elementary school teacher and former candidate, is unopposed for the Republican nomination for Assembly in the West Long Beach - Lakewood - Dominguez 44th District.

Stressing his concern with the declining image of politicians in Sacramento, specifically emphasizing their failure to place the death penalty issue on the ballot, Richardson proposes to establish responsive representation with two-way communication and to initiate a training program for youth at his local office.

Richardson said the Legislature must set an example for responsibility and accountability and criticized incumbent Democrat Mike Cullen for his initial position against the recording of votes in committee.

The candidate said he is for ending secrecy in government, extending the Brown Act, reorganizing committee schedules and cutting off per diem, cars and credit cards after June 30.

Bill endangered to let younger judges get pensions sooner

By JAMES K. STALEY

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Judges appointed as young men say they should be allowed to retire earlier than those appointed as older men, but a bill to permit just that is in serious trouble in the Senate.

The reason: It's $13.7 million price tag.

At the request of Alameda County Superior Court Judge Robert H. Kroninger, a bill is being proposed to allow judges to retire after 20 years on the bench, regardless of age. Under present law, judges cannot retire before age 60.

THE BILL also would increase disability pensions for judges who retired before 1959, making them equal with those who have retired since 1959; eliminate pension contributions after 20 years' service, and reduce the minimum age for deferred retirement benefits from 65 to 60.

At least 152 of the state's 870 judges would benefit from the measure.

The bill, however, has yet to be even assigned for a hearing. It must clear the Senate subcommittee on judges, the Senate Governmental Organization Committee, and the Senate Finance Committee before going to the Senate floor. If it survives all that, it then faces a similar obstacle.

AN AIDE to the bill's author, Sen. Alfred Song, D-Monterey Park, said chances for passage of the bill were "not particularly good."

The main reason, he said, was an analysis of the measure by the legislative staff, indicating the first-year cost of the bill would be $113.8 million with annual increases of about $425,000 after that.

Superior Court judges are currently paid $35,080. Under the proposed measure, a judge retiring after 20 years would receive a pension of $26,310 a year.

The Song aid, Richard Thompson, contended the bill's costs probably would be cut during subcommittee and committee hearings when legislators question judges about the need for the proposed benefits.

"The negotiating hasn't begun yet," he said.

KRONINGER, 48, was appointed to the Alameda County Superior Court bench in 1962. Passage of the bill would make it possible for him to retire two years sooner than would existing law.

Judges without 20 years service now may retire at age 65 but receive a maximum pension equal to 40 per cent of their salary at retirement.

The Song bill would reduce that minimum age to 60 and increase the maximum pension to 65 per cent of the salary before retirement. Analysts said that provision alone would cost $424,760 a year.

The improved disability pensions for judges who retired before 1959 only apply to judges who have two men and, based on their life expectancies, would cost the state a total of $93,160, the analyst said.

AMONG those who could benefit from the early retirement provision of the bill is San Diego Municipal Court Judge George G. Crawford, the intended beneficiary of another bill which also is stalled in the Senate Governmental Organization Committee.

That bill, by Sen. Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, was tailored to benefit Crawford, a longtime political associate of Schrade's. It would give Crawford a $122,933 pension bonus.

Schrade angrily denounced the news media recently for publicizing the proposal, saying the publicity had made it impossible for him to round up the needed votes to get it out of committee.

The money for the income from the state General Fund, the analyst proved pensions would said.

Restoration of ex-cons' rights asked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The state Supreme Court was asked Friday to restore voting rights to California ex-convicts who have completed parole.

A petition filed with the court noted that 21 other states now permit former convicts to vote and alleges that registrars in California's 58 counties now "decide in their individual opinion" whom they will register, creating a wide disparity in regulations throughout the state.

Some counties have a long list of crimes for which they do not allow former convicts to register, the petition stated, while others allow registration so long as the person has not been convicted of election law violations.

The petition asks that the secretary of state order county registrars to permit all qualified ex-convicts to register.

The action was filed on behalf of three former felons and organizations for ex-convicts, as well as the League of Women Voters.

Ed Wade has my vote. Now more than ever we need him in city hall. Vote for Wade June 6.

Puerto Rico no-fault works, rates cut 30 per cent

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business Editor

No-fault insurance for auto owners reportedly has been "such a tremendous success" in Puerto Rico that the Automobile Accident Compensation Administration — after but two years — is cutting rates by more than 30 per cent.

At the same time, the AACA said, it is increasing benefits.

Puerto Rican car owners have been paying $35 annually under the compulsory no-fault insurance plan.

They are unable to get license plates for their vehicles until they have paid the premium.

Now, according to AACA executive director Frank Fournier, the premium will drop to $24 and benefits will be expanded to include payments to incapacitated housewives and to dependent parents of accident victims, and increased benefits for dismemberment.

Under the Puerto Rican plan, which was the first no-fault system in any jurisdiction under the American flag, the government acts as the basic insurer and pays accident victims, regardless of fault, unlimited medical and hospital benefits.

Dismemberment benefits are paid up to $5,000, death benefits to $15,000, funeral expenses to $500 and 50 per cent of lost income for the first year and 25 per cent for the second year up to a maximum of $3,900.

Per capita income in Puerto Rico is less than half that on the mainland, so the loss of income benefit is more realistic than it appears.

(The plan does not pay for property damage.)

No-fault insurance is intended to award victims of auto accidents in proportion to their injuries without consideration of liability and without lengthy and often costly court cases.

Currently before the U.S. Senate Commerce Committee are no-fault bills sponsored by Sens. Philip Hart, D-Mich., and Warren Magnuson, D-Wash. If passed into law, the provisions would apply nationwide.

Meanwhile, several states independently have passed no-fault laws, including Massachusetts and Florida which both have pure no-fault laws.

Delaware and Oregon began no-fault programs this year, but they provide only limited amounts of coverage. In Illinois, the no-fault law was declared unconstitutional, and in Minnesota and South Dakota insurance companies have been ordered to provide supplementary no-fault policies on a non-compulsory basis.

California is among the nine states giving consideration to no-fault laws. Others include Colorado, Connecticut, Hawaii, Louisiana, Michigan, New York and Pennsylvania.

But only in Michigan does there seem to be an outside chance no-fault has a chance of becoming law this year.

UNDER PUERTO RICO'S PLAN, which is non-cancelable, about 90 cents of every premium dollar is available for benefits, as opposed to only about 45 cents under standard insurance plans, the remainder going for administrative costs and legal expenses.

In its first year, AACA placed in reserve or paid $6 million to 28,000 accident victims from premiums totaling $17.5 million.

Aside from its financial success, how is no-fault insurance working in Puerto Rico? The accident rate climbed only 5 per cent, compared with a 10 per cent increase the previous year, despite warnings by critics that not having to pin the blame of an accident on individual drivers would cause them to be careless.

The number of traffic deaths actually declined during the first year, Fournier said.

Under the Puerto Rico no-fault plan, drivers still may carry insurance from private companies, and critics predicted that "pain and suffering" claims would increase because victims would want to recover more than the limits under the compulsory plan. But such has not been the case, and as a result, the courts are no longer clogged with claims cases, Fournier said.

Prior to the advent of no-fault insurance in Puerto Rico, nine out of 10 accident victims received no benefits of any kind, according to the AACA executive director, because most drivers did not carry insurance.

Fournier says that no-fault "has actually saved lives in this island" because those who previously could not afford medical treatment for their injuries are now getting it at no cost to themselves.

But no fault is not universally popular in Puerto Rico, despite its success. There, as on the mainland, many attorneys are opposed to it. Their most valid argument is that citizens "have been deprived of their rights under due process to sue for reparations over and above the actual financial loss due to an accident."

But the U.S. Department of Transportation, which officially favors a nationwide no-fault plan, points out that less than half the victims seriously injured in an automobile accidents receive no benefits under standard insurance. And a DOT study shows that those with the biggest economic losses recover less than those with losses under $500.

Fournier looks for even greater success in Puerto Rico's no-fault insurance, and, meanwhile, the federal government and many states are keeping an eye on how it's working.

HONORS TO INDUSTRY

Environmental awards dinner set by Chamber

Private industry and government will be honored June 20 by the Long Beach Area Chamber of Commerce for roles played in the improvement of water quality in the nation's second largest two-harbor complex.

The Chamber's Ocean Industries Advisory Council has evaluated the waste control and treatment programs of 15 public and private organizations and selected nine finalists for a water quality-environmental awards dinner to be held aboard the Queen Mary.

Committee Chairman Harry J. Cornwall of Con-Serv, Inc., a Long Beach engineering firm, places the total investment in environmental improvements by the nine finalists at more than $100 million.

Private industries in the final lineup included Procter and Gamble Manufacturing Company, Atlantic Richfield Company, Humble Oil and Refining Company, Metropolitan Stevedore Company and an oil production consortium, the THUMS Long Beach Company.

Public agencies include the United States Coast Guard, Long Beach Naval Base, the Port and City of Long Beach.

RECIPIENTS of the top award, a certificate of commendation for water quality improvement, will be identified at the dinner.

"These finalists, and especially those selected for the certificate of commendation, have been subjected to detailed questioning and on-site inspections. In all fairness, I must say that some companies asked that they not be considered until their programs were more fully developed," Cornwall said.

Cornwall said each nominee has been judged on management and operational measures, technological changes in equipment, capital expenditures for improved waste treatment

Heavy hauler

A Santa Fe Springs heavy hauling firm, B.F. Walker, Inc., has more than a small role in the building of the world's largest airport.

The Walker firm was chosen to haul 42 million pounds of steel reinforcement bars from the CF&I Steel Corporation in Pueblo, Colo., to the airport site — halfway between Dallas and Fort Worth.

The new airport will stretch nine miles from north to south and eight miles from east to west, is due to open in the summer of 1973.

The Walker company's participation began March 23 and will continue through this year. Deliveries from the Pueblo steel mill to the job site continues five days a week.

INDUSTRY WEEK

Optimism grows

Optimism about the economy is growing and 1972 is shaping up as one of the "best of years" for the vast majority of Americans, Industry Week reported.

This spring the business magazine's Panel of Economic Consultants is more confident of good times than it was last fall when it forecast strong and widespread business improvement. (The panel is made up of 31 business and private economists.)

The panel now believes a variety of economic sectors will perform better than had been anticipated, and adds that more of the overall growth will be real because of success in curbing inflation.

Of top interest to consumers is the expectation that the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Consumer Price Index will increase only 3.5 per cent this year compared with 4.3 per cent in 1971 and the inflation rate of 3.8 per cent anticipated last fall. Meanwhile, projections for wholesale prices remain unchanged — a 3.1 per cent rate of gain versus 3.2 per cent last year.

As a result, less of the economy's growth will be sapped by inflation, although estimates of total growth have also been lowered. Gross national product in 1972 now is pegged at $1.143 trillion (a gain of 9.2 per cent) instead of the $1.146 trillion foreseen last fall.

ONE PANELIST TOLD Industry Week: "A more solid base has been established for a more stable and sustainable expansion in the years ahead."

Major sources of economic strength this year, the economists agree, will be plant and equipment spending (up 9.6 per cent), considerably more than anticipated six months ago; total new construction (up 9.5 per cent) as housing starts remain above the 2 million unit level; auto production (to top 1971's rate by 6.1 per cent); and steel (with domestic mill shipments to rise 6.8 per cent and production 10.6 per cent).

The consensus of the 31 economists participating in the business magazine's current look ahead is that production of nondurable goods will be up 5.8 per cent, slightly better than they expected last fall.

However, they see the government's index of durable goods output rising less than anticipated — although up 6.7 per cent — and total industrial production rising a bit less than hoped for — although up 6.2 per cent compared with a slight drop in 1971.

PROFITS WILL BE growing this year, but perhaps not as impressively as previously expected. On a pretax basis, the panelists see them up 11.8 per cent versus 13.9 per cent expected last fall.

Unemployment is likely to remain a problem that rising business cannot wipe out, even though it will be reduced slightly.

The economists now expect the jobless rate to reach a low point of 5.3 per cent in the fourth quarter instead of the 5 per cent they thought possible last fall. Thus unemployment will be only slightly below the 5.9 per cent level of last year by the time of the presidential election, the magazine notes, and well above the 4.9 per cent overall rate for 1970.

Another continuing problem this year will be the U.S. trade deficit, with only small improvement expected by the panel. But by the end of the year, it believes, exports should be topping imports slightly — perhaps pointing the way to a trade turnaround in 1973.

Nevada gambling revenues in climb

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Nevada gambling operations drew in $165.9 million during the first quarter of 1972 — a whopping 17.2 per cent increase over the same period a year ago, the state Gaming Commission said Tuesday.

Edward E. Bowers, commission executive secretary, attributed the really strong quarter to general confidence in the nation's economy resulting in more travel and spending.

The taxable gross revenues, not including operating expenses, compare to $141.6 million for the same quarter ending March 31 a year ago — an increase of $24.4 million, said Bowers.

"We anticipate revenues will stay on a higher plane than they were on last year," said Bowers. "But I can't say the 17 per cent rate of increase will hold."

I believe we'll see a marked improvement."

HE NOTED that in the last quarter of 1971 ending in December, gaming revenues had a growth rate of just 8.3 per cent — half the current rate of increase.

For the 1972 first quarter Clark County (Las Vegas) gaming establishments grossed $115.2 million compared to $97 million the year before — an 18.8 per cent increase for the county.

In Douglas County casinos — mostly Lake Tahoe south shore operations — revenues were $17.6 million compared to $14.3 million for the year before — an increase of 23.4 per cent.

And in Washoe County (Renô) revenues were $28.4 million compared to $26.5 million the year before — up 7 per cent.

"YOU MEAN YA GET THE SAME TELEVISION PROGRAMS WE DO? BOY, THIS REALLY IS A MODERN FARM!"

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today: A most active social year is coming up fast. Minor crises come in quick, irregular succession, each with its moment of triumph or passing let-down as you cope with changing circumstances. Relationships include moods beyond average. Today's natives have lively imaginations, may follow many varied vocations.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Seldom comes a Sunday more suited to minding and mending your own affairs. Survey home and possessions, see to the needs of your loved ones.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Catch up with community news. Be skeptical of speculative schemes, rumors of pending business bonanzas. You have enough to think about already.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Temptation to rush into complex arrangements can lead to embarrassment. Keep things uncomplicated and be sure of what you are doing.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You're better off promoting things and people you are sure about, beginning with yourself. There's much energy at your disposal today.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): You have little privacy. Have your own program clearly in mind and press forward toward larger goals rather than local small deals.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): An explanation, beforehand, may save confusion later. Be sure people are listening when you say what you will do, then on it.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): It's more of a useful Sunday than a peaceful celebration. Keeping plans simple and skipping squabbles is now a fine and elusive art.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): New promises are not to be added to previous commitments. There is energy for both constructive and trivial uses, so make some discerning choices.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Sunday is for the soul. Stay away from any discussion of business, although almost certainly somebody will try involving you.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Natural directions like home and family are easier to follow. Exercising your mind gives greater benefits than flexing your muscles.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Communications convey little reality, may have another story mixed in. Be content with a quiet life for the sake of those you love.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Share your pastimes with those near you, but avoid overindulgence. You may find yourself persuaded into more than you can handle comfortably.

IRRITANT—Light in the inland valleys.

VISIBILITY—Minimum of two to four miles; visibility restrictions due to photochemical smog and haze.

Readings are per million parts of air (ppm). California standards exceeded when ozone reaches a count of 10 ppm for an hour; carbon monoxide, 20 ppm for 8 hours; and visibility is reduced to less than 10 miles when the humidity is 70 or less. A letter from SIMON Candidate for Long Beach City Council

Dear Long Beach Voter,

I feel that my twenty years of voluntary civic involvement qualify me to serve as your City Councilwoman. Two of my children, Joel 21 and Amy 19, are now in college and my youngest son Matt 17, will be a senior at Wilson High School. My time is my own. I will devote full time to being your Councilwoman.

Thousands of you have met and worked with me all over Long Beach in city planning sessions, nursery schools, park and recreation development, library service expansion, city charter revision, artistic and musical groups and many others. You know my goals are to help make Long Beach more livable, attractive, interesting and prosperous for all our people.

I ask you to vote for me because I believe the decisions a councilwoman must make demand the broadest background in our city's affairs, a sensitivity to the needs of all our citizens and a maturity and judgment seasoned by experience.

Please study my record of community accomplishments. . . . it should forecast my future performance on our Council.

I pledge to you that I shall never be a captive of any special interest group and that every decision I make shall be for the benefit of our entire community.

Sincerely,
Renee
Renee Simon

Come on down and watch the artists at work, Saturday and Sunday, June 3 and 4 — just north of the main Independent, Press-Telegram building, 6th and Pine.

The I,P-T has arranged for art students from Long Beach State University to decorate with an original design the plywood barrier surrounding the construction site of our new distribution terminal — but we've also arranged for peep holes in the barrier so that even the littlest of our readers can marvel at the construction crews.

The new distribution terminal — we call it a mail room — will assure you even better delivery of your newspaper. And in the near future when it's completed — the new building's architecture will blend with that of the main I,P-T facility. Until then, LBSU art students will be providing the beauty.

It's all for you from your newspaper—the Lakers' third G.M.

Newell's plan: to keep Lakers on top

Pete Newell, the towel-chewing coach who guided Cal to the 1959 NCAA basketball championship, will team with Bill Sharman next season in an effort to keep the Lakers on top in the National Basketball Assn.

Newell, 56, was chosen Friday to succeed Fred Schaus as Laker general manager.

"I think we are indeed fortunate to have such a knowledgeable and capable basketball man as Pete Newell joining our championship organization," Laker owner Jack Kent Cooke said.

Newell responded, "I appreciate the opportunity to meet the challenge of keeping the Lakers on top of the basketball world."

Newell left Cal in 1968 to become general manager of the San Diego Rockets but didn't want to move from California when the NBA franchise was shifted to Houston in 1971. He served in an advisory capacity to the Rockets at Houston last season.

Given a multi-year contract at a salary believed to be $40,000 annually, Newell becomes the third g.m. since the Lakers came West in 1960. The late Lou Mohs held the job seven years and Schaus was in the post five seasons after serving a seven-year hitch as coach.

"If you stand still, you tend to fall back," said Newell. "I'm not the type of general manager who would say we should trade this man or draft this man without the approval of the coach."

Coach Bill Sharman wasn't present at the news conference. The coach still is recuperating from strained vocal cords.

Cooke also announced that Chick Hearn would assist Newell in addition to his job of broadcasting the Lakers' games.

Newell's '59 Cal team won the NCAA title with a 71-70 victory over a West Virginia coached team by Schaus and led by Jerry West, now with the Lakers.

Newell's 1960 team lost in the final to Ohio State, featuring John Havlicek, Larry Siegfried and Jerry Lucas.

West and Lucas played for Newell when he guided the U.S. to the 1960 Olympic Games championship.

A native of Vancouver, B.C., Newell compiled a .637 winning percentage in 14 years of college coaching. That included 70-36 at USF, 45-42 at Michigan State and 119-44 at Cal.

Buckner, John right at home -- Dodgers, 8-3

By GORDON VERRELL
Staff Writer

The last time Bill Buckner popped out four base hits in a single game he found himself on the bench the next night.

So he figured the only way to improve upon that was to collect five hits.

"I almost had it, too," Buckner said with a grin Friday night after he scarcely missed his fifth consecutive single in the Dodgers' 8-3 victory over

St. Louis before 31,316 Dodger Stadium fans.

Buckner had four of the Dodgers' 14 hits and Willie Crawford and Manny Mota each drove in two runs to make Tommy John a winner for the first time in two weeks.

John, who delights pitching in the Big O after a seven-year tenure in the more confining home of the Chicago White Sox, now is 4-3 for the year. He scattered seven St. Louis hits before turning it over to Jim Brewer in the eighth.

Brewer, who emerged with his fifth save, nailed all five Cardinals he faced, giving him a string of 16 consecutive batters retired.

The Dodgers broke a 1-1 tie with two runs in the fifth, on a triple by Steve Garvey, a double by Duke Sims and a single by Bobby Valentine. The Dodgers added two more in the fifth and then put it away with a three-run seventh.

Buckner's hits this season have come in bunches. It's his third four-hit game and jumped his batting average from .272 to .302. Further, it extended his hitting streak to 10 games.

"I did what I do best to night — I hit to all fields," said the 22-year-old outfielder-first baseman. "For me to hit I have to really concentrate, and I sure had concentration in this game. But that last time up I guess I wasn't concentrating too well."

Buckner broke into the limelight rather with much brashness two springs ago when he announced to the world he was potentially the best hitter on the club.

He tempered that considerably this spring, saying he was one of the best.

If no one else listened, the manager did.

"He can be a great one," Walter Alston has said of Buckner. "He doesn't strike out much, he can go to the opposite field and he's fast enough to beat out infield hits."

Despite the manager's confidence, Buckner hasn't yet hit the lineup on a regular basis. He's platooned in leftfield, picked up for Wes Parker at first base and occasionally has been seen in right field.

"It makes quite a difference," he says of playing regularly. "Whenever I sit out for awhile it takes two or three games before I'm hitting the ball good again."

While Buckner led the attack, he was hardly the whole show as the Dodgers had their biggest night in two weeks. Sims had two doubles, Mota one and Garvey and Crawford each slapped a triple.

END OF RICHARDSONS' VACATION

Kemp and Marcia Richardson went to Great Britain primarily for vacation, but Kemp ended up playing in British Amateur. He bowed out on 20th hole of Friday's quarterfinals, putting drive into bunker and taking bogey to par 4 by Briton Alan Thirlwell.

Kemp bows at 20th hole

SANDWICH, England — Kemp Richardson, the last surviving American in the British Amateur golf championship, putted like a master Friday before finally bowing out in the quarterfinals.

Alan Thirlwell, 43-year-old British veteran who reached the final back in 1958, beat Richardson at the 20th hole on the Royal St. George links in a match that left the gallery tense with excitement.

Thirlwell, without a trace of fatigue, went on to upset the favorite, British Walker Cup captain Michael Bonallack, 2-1, in the semifinals later in the day. Bonallack had been hoping to win the title for the sixth time.

In the other semifinal, another all-British affair, Trevor Homer beat Roger Revell, 5-3.

Richardson, a lanky 28-year-old stockbroker from Long Beach, twice led Thirlwell on the inward nine. He won the 10th hole by sinking a putt from 20 feet, and he canned another from 12 feet to win the 15th.

But he saved his most spectacular putting to stay alive at the 18th and 19th.

Coming to the 18th all square, Richardson put his second shot into a patch of rough grass on the lip of a bunker. He chipped out to 10 feet beyond the pin and then rolled in the putt to halve the hole and stay in the match.

At the 19th, Thirlwell played a fantastic chip from 15 yards and holed it. This time Richardson had to sink a putt of 15 feet to stay in contention. Again the ball went down.

"It was a wonderful putt," Thirlwell said later. "Nobody who can make such a putt at that stage of a match deserves to lose."

At the 20th, Richardson drove into the bank of a sand pit. He hacked out, took a bogey five and lost the hole—and the match—to a four.

Richardson said that drive and two other bad shots cost him the match.

"That's the way the game goes," Kemp shrugged. "That was sheer bad luck. That ball could have gone anywhere. Why did it have to plug just there?"

"I topped my drive into the rough at the 14th," he said. "It was a thoroughly bad shot and it cost me the hole. I was one-up at the time and if I kept my lead then I think I would have won."

He regained the lead at the 15th, but lost it again at the short 16th, where he chipped short out of the rough and left himself with a long putt. He took a bogey four.

"It was a pretty miserable chip," Richardson said. "I had a good lie and should have got the ball up to the hole."

Richardson, who was accompanied around the course by his wife Marcia, a pretty blonde airline hostess, went to the 20th hole full of hope. He had birdied that hole three times out of four in previous rounds. But this time his driving deserted him and he plugged the sand-pit.

The Richardsons, using the trip as a vacation, said

Leo cuts off Tribe at pass

Angels ruin Alex'

vengeance, 4-3

By DON MERRY
Staff Writer

CLEVELAND — Leo Cardenas Jr. is nine years old with eyes as big as almonds.

He sat by his father Friday night and posed a question.

"Are you going to be on the All-Star team, daddy?" the little Leo wanted to know.

Daddy did not grant a reply. He just leaned back and laughed.

It was easy for Leo Cardenas Sr. to laugh Friday night. He has not been saving the Angels with his bat, but on this night he rescued them with his arm, an arm that seems to be equipped with a telescope sight and the force of a howitzer.

Cardenas took a relay from centerfielder Ken Barry, turned and threw John McCraw of the Indians out at the plate to end the game, thus preserving a 4-3 Angel victory, a victory that was the seventh in eight games.

The play by Cardenas denied Alex Johnson the right to a hero's applause. Stalking the Angels with a vengeance, Johnson laced a double to left-center with McCraw on first and two out in the ninth and McCraw never stopped running.

He hit the dirt about five feet from the plate, but catcher Art Kusnyer took Cardenas' perfect throw and applied the game-saving tag as McCraw slid by.

"I have to do something to help the club," Cardenas smiled, alluding to his .200 batting average. "I knew he would be running and I knew he was out if I get off a good throw. He was coming all the way from first base... that's a long way to run."

In addition to making game-saving throws to the plate, Cardenas is helping the Angels in other ways, too.

He takes bats home with him and puts them under magical spells designed to increase their proficiency.

Cardenas gave the voodoo treatment to Ken McMullen's weapon the other day and Friday night Big Mac slugged his first home run of the season, a three-run blast off loser Vince Colbert that got the Angels moving in the fourth inning.

Mac's homer came one day after his 30th birthday. "I was beginning to think I'd never hit another one," McMullen said. "I wasn't getting the ball in the air — even in batting practice. I'm glad to know Leo's got me under his spell."

Clyde Wright went seven flawless innings for the Angels before the recurring stiffness forced him into premature retirement. He held the Indians without a run and, after some edgy moments, receipted for his fourth win in six decisions.

"I'm just going to have to pitch with the soreness," Wright said. "It bothers me, but there is nothing I can do about it. I

Edmonson wins 100

USC holds scant NCAA track lead

Combined News Services

EUGENE, Ore. — Warren Edmonson of UCLA won the featured 100-meter dash in 10.1 Friday, but Southern California's Randy Williams took the long jump and Jerry Wilson the high hurdles to give the favored Trojans the team lead after seven finals in the NCAA track and field championships.

With 14 finals to go in today's concluding show, USC held a narrow three-point lead over Texas-El Paso, another pre-meet favorite, 28-25, with UCLA third (22), Kent State fourth (18) and Connecticut and Oklahoma State tied for fifth (10).

Five runners in the 100 hit the tape as one and it took officials about 20 minutes to decide Edmonson was the winner after James Amerison of Long Island University, Errol Stewart of UTEP, Ivory Crockett of Southern Illinois and Cliff Branch of Colorado also clocked 10.1.

Only Harrington Jackson of UTEP, the defending champion, was not in the running as he finished 10.2. It was regarded as one of the all-time best collegiate 100 fields and the closeness of the competition reflected that view.

Edmonson, a 5-foot-9 senior who finished fifth in last year's NCAA meet, hadn't been considered a serious U.S. Olympic prospect until running the 100 meters in 10 seconds flat twice May 13 at the West Coast Relays at Fresno.

Edmonson's actual electronic clocking was 10.05 seconds, and the UCLA dashman set an NCAA meet record of 10.0 in a semifinal heat, a time also given to Branch and Jackson.

Southern California's Willie Deckard and Michigan State's Herb Washington failed to make the finals, and USC's Don Quarrie pulled up short in the finals after injuring his left thigh in the semifinals.

"This is the fourth time in three weeks I've run the 100 meters and every time it was about 10 flat," Edmonson said. "I'm not worried about the 220 tomorrow because this is my race. I really like the title of 'world's fastest human.'" nek (7,298) and Lamar Tech's John Whitson (7,161). Each of the top six competitors recorded lifetime bests.

Kotinek, the former Millikan High standout, won the javelin Friday with a meet-record toss of 214.0.

Keep 1/2-game lead

Tigers tip Twins in 11 innings, 5-4

DETROIT (UPI) — Gates Brown's one-out double in the 11th inning scored Mickey Stanley from first base Friday night and gave the Detroit Tigers a 5-4 win over the Minnesota Twins, leaving them a half-game in front of the American League East.

Stanley had walked after one out in the 11th to enable Detroit to recapture the game after blowing an earlier 4-0 lead.

Dave Laruche, 1-3, lost the game while Fred Scherman, 2-0, won it after giving up the game-tying single after he was just one pitch away from nailing Mickey Lolich's ninth win in the ninth inning.

The Twins didn't get their first hit off Lolich until the sixth when Cesar Tovar tripled with one out and scored on Danny Thompson's sacrifice fly.

"I felt good all night, even in the eighth," he said, recalling the inning in which the Birds popped out three consecutive hits which brought Brewer into his sixth game in the Dodgers' last nine.

"I guess I was tired, though. My fast ball kept getting higher and a little higher."

John wasn't the least bit disappointed that he missed pitching in the four games earlier in the week in San Francisco.

"I felt sorry for the guys who had to pitch there," he said of the cold weather and the wind. "I like pitching here just like it. It's a big park and 30,000 fans sure help charge you up."

But in Candlestick Park? You can have it. I'd like pitching in Terre Haute, Indiana, in January."

DODGER DOPE: Frank Robinson was sidelined for a second game in a row with a tender hamstringing muscle in left leg. Dr. Frank Jobe, who examined Robinson prior to Friday night's game, said the Dodger slugger could be out three to six more games. Robie disagrees, saying "I could have played tonight."

The Cardinals' Matty Alou has a 14-game hitting streak but wasn't even in the starting lineup.

Red Schoendienst, the manager of the Cards, sums up his club's early-season fortunes, most of which have been little, this way: "I heard Willie McCovey will be ready to play Tuesday. That's the day we get there. It figures he misses every team in the league but us." The Cardinals have lost 13 one-run games, the Dodgers none.

The Dodgers and Pepsi-Cola will hold a clinic today at Gonzales Park in Compton. Frank Robinson, Maury Wills, Al Downing and Jim Gilliam scheduled to appear. It's from noon to 2 p.m. Pitching the second game of the series tonight at 7 will be Don Sutton (7-0) and Scipio Spinks (3-1).

Sunday, on Oldlanders Day, Claude Osteen faces Bob Gibson.

Tab Ratleff as year's No. 1 49er

Ed Ratleff, a 6-foot-6 junior who was a first-team choice on each of the 13 basketball all-America teams announced this year, was honored as 49er of The Year Friday night by the 49er Foundation.

Ratleff's award capped an evening of recognition for a host of Long Beach State University athletes. A crowd of more than 250 at Rochelle's Restaurant in Lakewood participated in the salute.

Jack Teele, assistant to the president of the Rams, was the keynote speaker.

Terry Metcalf, who set an NCAA record by scoring 29 touchdowns last fall and then qualified for the finals of the NCAA long jump in Eugene, Ore., Friday, was acknowledged as LBSU's top all-round athlete.

Chuck Terry, a second-round draft choice of the Milwaukee Bucks and a member of the United States' Pan American Games basketball team, was presented with the school's best sport-Sportsmanship Award. Swimmer Mitch Ivey, a participant in the 1968 Olympics, was honored as the Most Inspirational athlete.

Academic recognition went to student-athletes Frank Newell, LBSU's first four-year letterman in golf, and track star Jeff Huber.

Newell, who has a 3.36 grade point average, was chosen to receive the Senior Scholarship award. Huber, who participates in cross country and track yet maintains a 4.0 GPA, was honored as the school's Outstanding Scholar-Athlete.

The 49er Foundation also saluted Russell Guiver, who received the Sports Non-Participant award, as well as giving special recognition to Bob Swallows and Ralph Mohorney.

COURT ORDER LIFTS JANE'S SUSPENSION

ATLANTA (AP) — A federal judge entered a court order today allowing Jane Blalock to continue in the Ladies Professional Golf Assn. tour pending a further court hearing in her case.

Miss Blalock, 26, one of the most promising young players on the LPGA tour, was suspended Thursday by the LPGA "for actions inconsistent with the code of ethics of the organization."

She countered the one-year suspension Thursday by filing a $5 million law suit against the organization.

She added that she is very sorry this "unpleasant situation has come up." She said she never knowingly violated any rule.

Long Beach State gridders awarded university status

Larry Klein, chairman of the NCAA's football statistics and classification committee, notified Long Beach State University Friday that it would have university status in football this fall.

"This is a great thing for the university," LBSU athletic director Lew Comer said in response to the announcement. "It's a great step forward for our institution."

University status means that the 49ers will be listed with schools such as USC, Stanford, Notre Dame and Texas in individual and team statistics and that LBSU will be eligible to participate in the NCAA's television package.

"This is the greatest step forward in our football program," football coach Jim Stangeland said. "It's delightful that our institution and our football program could reach the university level at the same time."

Billie Jean climaxes jinx, wins spot in French finale

PARIS (AP) — Evonne Goolagong of Australia, the defending champion, and Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, who had never gone beyond the quarterfinal round, battled their way Friday into the women's singles final of the French Open tennis tournament.

Mrs. King a top star in women's tennis for the past 10 years and No. 2 on the American ranking list, defeated Mrs. Helga Masthoff of West Germany, 6-4, 6-4, avenging a quarterfinal loss to the German girl two years ago.

Miss Goolagong, who won the French and Wimbledon titles on her first European swing last year, waited until the pressure was on to pull out her best strokes against Francoise Durr of France. Miss Goolagong won, 9-7, 6-4, before a crowd of about 3,000 on the center court at Roland Garros Stadium in sunny but cool weather.

The women's final on Sunday in this tournament, rated as the world clay court championships, will be a repeat of last year's Wimbledon final which Miss Goolagong won, 6-4, 6-1. The two women have played each other only once since then and Mrs. King won that one in Dallas.

Bob Hewitt and Frew McMillan of South Africa won the first title decided by defeating Jaime Fillol and Patricio Cornejo of Chile, 6-3, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1, in the men's doubles final. The victory was worth $2,000 to McMillan and Hewitt, the top seeded team.

Hogan gains finals in Rothmans tennis

SURBITON, England (AP) — Patti Hogan of La Jolla gained the women's singles final in the Rothman's Surrey Tennis Championships Friday, beating Australia's Wendy Turnbull, 6-4, 6-2.

It was her second convincing victory of the day. Earlier Miss Hogan scored a 6-4, 6-2 victory over Alex Cowie of Britain.

In the men's singles, Sherwood Stewart of Baytown, Tex., came from behind to beat South Africa's Patrick Cramer, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4, but then succumbed, 9-8, 6-3, in a semifinal to Ross Cass of Australia.

Gilbert ends scoring drought with 67 for Kemper Open lead

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Slump-ridden Gibby Gilbert came from three strokes off the pace Friday with a 5-under-par 67 and took the second-round lead in the $175,000 Kemper Open golf tournament.

The 31-year-old Gilbert, fighting a severe scoring drought all season, had a 36-hole score of 135—nine under par on the Quail Hollow Country Club course.

Gilbert, who has won only a little over $8,000 this season and isn't in the top 100 money winners, held a one-stroke lead over first-round leader Cesar Sanudo, Dave Hill and Billy Casper.

The longshot Sanudo slipped to a 71, Hill closed up with a flashy 66 and Casper carded a 70 despite bogeys on three of his last four holes.

Gilbert, winner of the Houston-Champions International two years ago and a consistent money winner for the past three seasons, has been in a putting slump all season.

He credited a tip he got from Gary Player, his playing partner in a round a week ago, with getting him straightened out.

He didn't have a bogey and needed only 29 putts four of them in the 15-25 foot range.

"I hit some good shots and some bad shots," shrugged Hill, a perfectionist. He sank five putts in the 10-15 foot range and another from 20 feet.

"I don't pay much attention to the leaders until the last nine holes of the last day," Hill said.

"I was coming in and I looked at a leader board. I discovered Casper had dropped three strokes while I was looking at the girls."

Smith's 68 worth one-stroke lead in Lady Carling

BALTIMORE (AP) — Marilyn Smith, using a new putter, toured the Pine Ridge golf course in 5-under-par 68 and took a one-stroke lead over Carol Mann Friday in the opening round of the $30,000 Lady Carling golf tournament.

Miss Mann, a local favorite, said she was "very pleased and very tired" after shooting a 69, one stroke better than JoAnn Prentice and Kathy Ahern, who were tied for third place.

"I was super-charged up," said Miss Mann, "and I ran out of energy after 14 holes. From then on, I just tried to keep from doing something real bad."

Looking ahead to her match against Miss Goolagong, she said, "I can play more instinctively against Evonne. Stylewise, she's probably easier. It's more fun to play that way."

The women's first prize is worth $4,000. The men's division, in the semifinals with no U.S. survivor, has a $12,000 first prize.

Helga seems to play better and better the harder I hit," she said. "My instinctive way seems to go to Helga's advantage."

Isaksson wins vault at 17-10 1/2

TURIN, Italy (AP) — Sweden's Kjell Isaksson won the pole vault at the Turin World University meet Friday with a jump of 17 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

Isaksson, who shares the world record of 18-4 1/2 with Bob Seagren of the United States, missed three times at 18-4 1/2.

The first-place finisher from the Regional will compete in the Junior Olympic National meet in August in Spokane, Wash.

There is no admission, but as there are few seats, spectators are advised to bring their own folding chairs.

Durham doesn't want California fight Joe says nothing wrong with eyes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Smokin' Joe Frazier took time from getting his "wheels" fixed to straighten out a few rumors.

"I keep hearing from California that I won't fight in Los Angeles because I got eye problems," Frazier said Friday.

"There isn't anything wrong with my eyes," said the heavyweight champion. "Yancey Durham (Joe's manager and trainer) don't want me to fight in Los Angeles. He's got some personal reasons. He don't like the rules or something."

Durham is in Spain and won't be back until June 10. Frazier was at a garage getting his automobiles and motorcycle worked on when he called a sports writer and get some things squared away.

"I will not climb into a ring until some promoter brings me a contract to fight one of the guys in the top ten," said smokin' Joe. "If it's Cassius Clay (Muhammad Ali) fine. Give me $3.5 million and I'm ready."

Joe explained some of the problems with his "wheels" and then said, "You know, I'm getting sick of some of these rumors. It's my blood pressure or my eyes. Tell those people that the only way they're going to get the title from me is to whip me. There ain't anybody can do that."

Frazier said he didn't believe Ali wanted to meet him again.

"He has no punch," said Joe. "He can't hurt anybody. That's why everybody wants to fight him and not me. But I'm ready. If it's George Foreman or Floyd Patterson, I don't care, or anybody the public wants to see me fight."

Frazier said he was back in the gym working out, and planned to go to Beaufort, S.C., where he has a plantation. He's going to build a gymnasium there for the kids, where he can work out when he's in the South.

How about the rumors he wants to quit the ring?

"Nah. I don't want to quit," Frazier replied. "I don't have to quit. I like the money. The money is good. I can buy a lot of things, help a lot of people."

Frazier said he could quit without any financial worries.

"My money has been invested wisely, not foolishly. My family is comfortable. There are trust funds for my kids. I don't have any organizations to support like you know who. I could make it on my own. I don't have to fight anymore."

North gains CIF finals berth, 10-2

By MARK FORSTER

North Torrance High erupted for six runs in the fifth inning en route to a 10-2 trouncing of Los Alamitos in semi-final CIF 4-A baseball action, Friday at Blair Field.

The Saxons had a slim 1-0 lead entering the fifth frame but after a walk and force out, Gary Nakagawa singled to rightfield to put runners on first and third.

Dean Irgens followed with a line drive over Griffin centerfielder Bob McKelvey, who stumbled while chasing the ball. Irgens ended up, with a triple and was singled home by Jim Zamberelli to enlarge their lead to 4-0. The Saxons collected three more runs before relief pitcher Gary Williams could end the inning.

Los Alamitos hurler Mike King had held North Torrance batters in check until the fifth, allowing only two hits and a walk. Denny Martindale had only one poor pitching inning when he gave up two runs on three hits by Griffin batters in the sixth inning. Martindale also hurt the Griffins at the plate collecting three RBI on a double and sacrifice bunt.

Both teams chose to run in the game and the results were often disheartening. Each team had one runner picked-off base and the Saxons had two runners thrown out stealing.

The U.S. Olympic team will be selected at the conclusion of Sunday's five-team competition.

that doesn't mean the veteran Dominguez High baseball coach isn't a happy individual today.

LaValle, whose right cheek is swollen out of proportion after being hit by a baseball while pitching batting practice this week, saw ace righthander Carl Sapp turn back Sierra on five hits Friday as the Dons advanced to the CIF 4-A finals with a 2-1 victory over the Whittier school at Cerritos College.

Sapp, now 12-2, has hurled three "complete" games in the playoffs besides pitching three innings of relief in another contest. In a span of 24 innings the 6-foot, 185-pounder has allowed only 10 hits.

Friday's semi-final match, billed as a pitching duel between Sapp and Scott Davis, was just that.

Davis, a mature sophomore of considerable talents, had also turned in an iron man performance for the Spartans in the playoffs.

Sierra hit Sapp with authority in the early going but paid dearly for stranding six runners in the first three innings as its final 12 batters were retired.

Singles by Jim Lentine, Bob Leach and Mike Foster put Sierra ahead 1-0 in the third before the Dons got even, then went ahead on single tallies in the fourth and fifth innings.

Ken Landreaux hit Scott's first offering of the fourth to right field for a hit, promptly stole second and came home when Jack Ramirez singled to center.

Gonzales signs to face Navarro

Juan Collado of Los Angeles, the California lightweight champion, was signed to box Cesar Sinda of Africa in the 10-round main event at the Forum Monday night.

Collado replaces Lobito Montoya of Mexico City, who was forced to withdraw because of illness.

Isaac's speed of 130.809 mph was the second fastest ever recorded at the highly banked Dover Downs Raceway.

PARNELL'S NAVIGATOR BREAKS LEG

Bill Stroppe, Bronco team manager and Parnelli Jones' offroad racing navigator, suffered a broken leg Friday and will miss next week's Baja 500 race.

Stroppe stopped at a coffee shop between his home and his Long Beach shop, got out of his truck and it rolled, pinning him against a wall.

Jones and Stroppe won the 1970 Baja 500, after which Jones said, "I had never seen the course before but I wasn't worried because he knew the road as well as he knew his own driveway."

The fourth annual race starts at Ensenada, Mexico, Thursday.

At Mayfair Park Lakewood Jets meet Raiders

Garrett has heard it all, now he's called 'Uncle Tom'

Off the football field, Mike Garrett is finding things really tough.

The Chargers' running back is a volunteer peace-maker between law enforcement authorities and high school kids, especially in the black and Mexican-American neighborhoods of Southeast San Diego.

"I never thought I would have been called an Uncle Tom, but I have," he says. "I'd been called a militant before, an arrogant black, but not a Tom."

THE Minnesota Vikings erroneously reported that Carl Eller and Jim Marshall have signed new contracts with the NFL team, lawyer Al Rose said Friday.

"I got a call from Carl indicating he was totally upset with the team's tactics," said Rose.

Eller and Marshall told him they would not report to the Vikings' training camp this summer until the matter is settled.

COMMISSIONER Jack Dolph of the ABA resigned Friday, pointing to the impending merger with the rival NBA as the critical factor.

"I believe that a merger is only a matter of time and Walter Kennedy will be the commissioner of the single expanded league. It, therefore, behooves me to look to my own future and certain opportunities that are available to me at the present time."

The two were under temporary suspension by the commission since May 26. Chance, a former pitcher with the Angels, had been accused by Detroit welterweight Ronnie Harris, who said Dean offered him more money if he would lose a fight. Chance said it was a misunderstanding.

BOWLING Green has agreed to 10 of 13 proposals submitted by the black athletes coalition at the university, including the immediate formation of an 11-member grievance board that will include six blacks.
